

"This above all: To thine own self be true
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."
—Shakespeare.

Listen to the voice of Jim Reed in the Senate. How it thunders. A sincere patriot, this rugged soul from the reaches of the Missouri. Across the isle sits Borah who explained away the oil reserves and made a prohibition speech in Texas. It has been America always and it will be America to the end, Reed seems to say. He cannot sign a treaty for peace and at the same time build battleships for war. Something about such a procedure that rattles the soul of sincerity. No note of finality in his voice. "I am going out of here but my flag is held high."

"We don't like Reed," they say. "He fought Wilson." So did Borah but he can sway a Texas audience of prohibitionists. "Listen you dreamers," he said. "Listen and you can hear the roar of furnaces which are forging the plates of great battleships. Listen and you will hear the chorus of mighty hammers shaping the keels of fighting men of the sea." Reed could not go to a foreign nation on a mission of good-will riding a battleship while directing diplomatic exchanges for a bogus peace.

"What is the cry we hear against the bill? They tell us the hearts of men have changed. These self-anointed individuals who compose themselves into the voice of the world say there is no selfishness left." Fortunately Reed is wrong in ultimate theory. Out in the reaches of the world men's hearts have changed. They have never been the same since Woodrow Wilson first cast a sail to that "wind that is sweeping the world." Yes, Reed is wrong, but what a man.

Spent an interesting hour Sunday afternoon in the Regal City of Rockdale. Sat for a while in the office of that delightful citizen, Emory Camp, in company with the Mayor of Cameron. Talked about many things of interest including municipal problems. Mr. Camp has served his city for many years as city attorney and has an extraordinary grasp of city affairs. An interesting personality this man who loves his city and its people. Surely an index to life as we live it among our fellows. Might have gone much further in the scale of human affairs had he turned his face to the populous centers and followed that thing they call ambition. But who can tell. His life has measured much for his community. Some of the world's great characters have lived their lives in surroundings of quiet places. Cities have souls and character as much so as the men who feature them. This man with a turbulent shock of hair and kindly face with a few marks of the years that have run by on the calendar of life, has lived much and served much and service, the philosophers tell us is the measure of a man.

Looking out the window over the quiet city one is impressed by examples of substantial growth and orderly progress. Saw a sign that said "Carriage Repository." Other days knew the value of this bit of obsolete advertising but now we know it no more. The years run by and leave their marks upon us. We cherish in the storehouses of memories many things trite in the nineties. At a street intersection stands an age worn fountain, once the pride of the city and the expression of some city father's civic pride. They no longer use it. It is like Cameron's drinking trough, a marker of a dead age. Rockdale is a city of peace and prosperity, fine homes and atmosphere that compels esteem. Soon the city will begin its paying contract. There are many marks of progress, a growing into the new age. Some day I want to spend more time there. I like the city and maybe they would like me better, who can tell?

What an age? Photographs by radio. Lights that pierce fog. Gas made from water. Machines that think. Horns that can be heard for 40 miles. Beacons that are visible for 250 miles. Locomotives that pull trains two miles in length. Crewless trains and five million volt guns that smash atoms.

Street lights that control clocks. Vending machines that replace salesmen. Cameras that record the path of lightning bolts. Electric shovels that lift 24 tons. Invisible motion picture apparatus to catch burglars. Devices that measure the billionth of an inch, freeze fire, identify delicate color tints, grade cotton, provide secrecy in radio speech, and that will hear light and see sound.

Such are the developments of this astounding age. The list of modern marvels is practically endless. It is no wonder that the popular imagination is fired, and that people of all classes are endeavoring to acquire ownership in the accomplishments of tomorrow. It is not strange that dealings in hope and romance have been increased to the point of frenzy.

"Take life too seriously and what is it worth? If the morning wakes us to no new joy, if the evenings bring us not the hope of new pleasures, is it worthwhile to dress and undress? Does the sun shine on me to day that I may reflect on yesterday? That I may endeavor to foresee and to control what can neither be foreseen nor controlled—the destiny of tomorrow."

FATHER HEINZLEMAN NOTED PASTOR DEAD

WESTPHALIA COMMUNITY LEADER FOR 36 YEARS DIES WEDNESDAY MORNING

Westphalia, Texas, Jan. 30.—The town of Westphalia and the entire community is in deep mourning today because of the death of Rev. M. Heinzlemann, beloved pastor of St. Mary's Parish, who for almost thirty-six years had been the leader of this parish.

Rev. Heinzlemann died at six o'clock this morning. The venerable pastor was found dead at Provident Hospital in Waco. Death came to him while seated in a chair. He had risen early in the morning and had dressed with plans to go to the Chapel. One of the Sisters of the hospital went to his room to summon him to breakfast and discovered that he had expired. Death came to him suddenly and in peace as he prepared for the routine of the day. Rev. Heinzlemann had been at the hospital for about two weeks under treatment. He was 63 years of age.

Rev. Heinzlemann was ordained Priest on June 21, 1891 at St. Mary's Cathedral in Galveston by the late Bishop Gallagher. His first appointment was as administrator of St. Joseph's church in Galveston. In May 1892 he was sent to LaGrange where he remained until March 1893. On March 15, 1893 he took charge of St. Mary's Parish at Westphalia where as an irremovable Rector he remained until his death.

In 1894 in the month of February he began the erection of the present church which stands as a monument to his faithful service to his people. The St. Mary's Parish school where more than 200 happy children attend was also erected under his able leadership.

Rev. Heinzlemann was born in Hohenzolleran, Germany, in 1866. He was a man of great scholarship having finished his studies at the University in Friburg with honors as a young man. Like many of his illustrious countrymen he immigrated to America where at St. Meinard, Indiana he finished his preparation for the Priesthood and was ordained by Bishop Gallagher in Galveston.

Rev. Heinzlemann was widely known over the United States and especially so in Texas. The Parish at Westphalia is one of the most popular as well as prosperous parish in this diocese and his capable leadership of the people here is testimony of his ability. There are 212 families and 689 communicants and the number of souls 1055 and 225 pupils enrolled in the school.

The question facing the Parish today is who will succeed Rev. Heinzlemann, but whoever comes to the parish will be welcome.

The funeral will be held at Westphalia Friday morning at ten o'clock with solemn High Mass by Right Rev. Bishop Byrne of Galveston, assisted by the Priests of the Diocese, with interment in the cemetery at Westphalia.

Sad intelligence of the death of Rev. Heinzlemann was received in Cameron at nine o'clock Wednesday morning when Rev. Geo. Apel, beloved pastor of St. Monica's church was apprized of the death of the venerable priest in Waco. Rev. Apel and Rev. Heinzlemann were intimate friends and the people of Westphalia know Father Apel of Cameron as he has visited the Parish there on numerous occasions. Rev. Apel will leave the city Friday morning for Westphalia to assist in the funeral services.

Produce Fraud and Farmers Are Warned Of Much Swindling

Farmers and chicken owners are warned against fraudulent purchase of their produce by persons now going through this section giving worthless checks.

Some kind of fraud has been perpetrated at various times in this section and the farmers should be careful to whom they sell.

First knowledge of this fake was wound at Gause last week when persons came through buying and giving checks on a bank in Bryan. The checks were signed for the Duncan Produce Company. All checks were turned down and investigation shows that no such firm is operating there, it was learned here Monday.

The favorite method of swindle is as follows: An advance man goes through the community and offers high prices for chickens and requires the farmers to gather all their chickens and make ready for the truck which calls in a day or two and the checks are given.

Farmers have been defrauded of considerable quantities of produce in this way and should not sell to anyone except reputable concerns doing business in Milam county.

S. W. CHEEVES SUCCEEDS GREEN AT FIRST NATIONAL

IS ELECTED PRESIDENT AND WILL DIRECT POLICIES OF PIONEER BANK

S. W. Cheeves has been elected president of the First National Bank to succeed A. N. Green who for a number of years has been directing the policies of this pioneer bank.

Mr. Cheeves has acquired all the interests of Mr. Green who was a heavy stockholder in the bank. The deal was consummated last Saturday, it was said at the bank yesterday.

When seen Wednesday Mr. Cheeves had nothing to say beyond the fact that he had purchased the interests of Mr. Green and has been elected president of the bank. Mr. Cheeves does not know at this time just how much time he will be able to devote to the bank, but for the time he is acting in an advisory capacity. Whether he will become active in directing the bank has not yet been determined.

H. M. Hefley, cashier and vice-president, is in charge of the bank and may be named to conduct its affairs as Mr. Cheeves is in the dry goods business here and much of his time is given to that work. Mr. Hefley is well qualified to direct the policies of the bank.

Mr. Green who came to the bank a number of years ago has seen the institution grow from a small bank until it had resources totalling over one million dollars. Mr. Green when seen by a representative of this newspaper declared his plans had not been made for the future but at present he will look after farming interests and other interests that have demanded much of his time.

W. D. Howell of Energy Visits Brother T. A. Howell In Cameron

W. D. Howell of Energy, Texas, in Comanche county, one of the old timers of early Texas and for many years postmaster at his home town, was in Cameron this week to visit with his brother, T. A. Howell.

His son, Ed Howell, has succeeded his father as postmaster.

Mr. Howell is a native of the Old North State but has been in Texas so long, he declares the tar has worn from his heel. With his brother, and parents they came from North Carolina in the early days and settled in the Yegua section of Lee county, a wild and untamed section that knew such men as Wild Bill Longley.

A representative of this newspaper found him in company with his brother, T. A. Howell in the office of Judge Jeff T. Kemp the other day. They were talking over old times. Mr. Howell once lived near Gause for 5 years. In 1900 just 29 years ago he moved to Comanche county and has resided there since. While he is well advanced in years he still retains an active interest in life and likes very much to recall the stirring days in this section.

Unlike his brother T. A. Howell, he does not play the fiddle. In those days yonnie T. A. Howell was the most celebrated fiddler in this country and today can thrill an audience with the old music of the seventies as well as any living man. Mr. Howell plays an old time called "High Upon the Yegua" a tune he learned while living in the brush country of Lee.

Mr. Howell has not taken part in any of the contests here, being a resident he has modestly stepped aside in favor of others. He took all prizes in other days when he played in contests. Mrs. Howell and every member of the T. A. Howell family are musicians. He conducts a music store in Cameron.

He will stock candies and sundry lines and will have a regular jobbing business in these lines, selling and distributing from this point.

Mrs. Boyd Wells and her three sons, Peter, John and Tom of Austin were guests last week end of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Henderson, Sr.

PASTEURIZED MILK TO GO ON SALE FRIDAY

INDUSTRY TO OPEN DOORS FRIDAY AND PAY 53c FOR BUTTER FAT

Friday, February 1 the plant of the American Milk Products Company will open for business with a price of 53c per pound for butter fat.

Delivery of Pasteurized milk will begin with the opening of the plant and a survey made Thursday shows that a large number of homes have requested delivery of their supply of milk.

Those in charge of the plant do not expect a capacity receipt of milk for the first few weeks but indications are that the farmers are awake to the possibilities of the sale of milk to augment the income of the farm.

The plant presented in the last issue of The Herald has a capacity of 22,000 pounds of milk per day and will make butter, cheese and Bulgarian butter milk in addition to sale of Pasteurized milk.

DR. J. T. FREEMAN IS BURIED AT ROSEBUD

NOTED PHYSICIAN DIES AT HIS PARIS, TENNESSEE HOME FRIDAY MORNING

Dr. J. T. Freeman, 52, noted physician and beloved citizen of Paris, Tennessee, died there on Friday morning January 25, 1929.

J. K. Freeman and Jack Freeman of Cameron, brothers, were notified of his death by friends of the dead physician and the body was brought to Rosebud for interment.

Dr. Freeman was a widely known citizen and physician in Tennessee. He was a native of Mississippi but had lived in Paris for many years where he had a large practice and was known and loved by the people.

The body arrived in Rosebud Sunday night where it was taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. Annie Taylor. Funeral services were held Monday morning at ten o'clock with Rev. Reed of the Methodist church conducting the services. The body was buried in the Rosebud cemetery.

The physician was the youngest of 11 children, three of whom live in Cameron and two in Rosebud, four having died. He was the son of T. H. Freeman, a native of Alabama and a pioneer in Mississippi. The Freeman family lived in Connewah, a small settlement in the timber country of Mississippi and there the children under their sturdy pioneer parents grew to manhood. The years have separated them, the doctor being the only one to live for any length of time after maturity in the region where the family was born.

Dr. Freeman had been quite active until the day before his death. An influenza epidemic was raging at Paris and the physician worked at night to attend the sick. He complained of feeling ill on Thursday. A doctor and nurse were called in and he was treated. At night he dismissed the nurse for her rest as he was feeling somewhat improved. Some hours later he was found dead in his bed.

Friends in Cameron of the family of brothers and sisters will be sincerely grieved to learn of their misfortune.

Surviving brothers and sisters are: Mrs. Mollie Burling of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Annie Taylor, Rosebud; J. K. Freeman of Cameron; T. H. Freeman of Rosebud; J. B. Freeman of Cameron and Mrs. Susie Givhan of Lexington, Ky.

Toncan Iron for Roof Of Christian Church

Robert Polansky of Caldwell and force of workmen have just finished the roof of the Christian church in Cameron.

The church building has been covered with Toncan iron for which Mr. Polansky is agent both in Burleson and Milam county.

This roofing has proven very popular. Tanks constructed from Toncan Iron have been taken down after 20 years service and found in perfect condition. Recently Mr. Polansky dismantled a 20 year tank and sent portions of it to the foundry and to the distributing agencies of Toncan iron.

Another big job was the Cameron Furniture Company building. Mr. Polansky expects to cover other buildings in Cameron with this permanent though inexpensive roofing.

Graphic Description of Battle of San Jacinto

Graphic description of the battle of San Jacinto is given in a letter written in 1836 by J. W. Hassell, Texas patriot, to his father. Photostat copies of the letter have been secured for the University of Texas library. Mrs. H. J. O'Hair of Coleman, relative of Hassell and a member of the Board of Regents of the University, submitted the letter for photostating.

Hassell was rewarded with 640 acres of land by the Republic of Texas for his heroic part in the war for Texas Independence. Following is Hassell's account of the decisive Battle of San Jacinto:

"On the twenty-first of April, they (the Mexicans) received a reinforcement which augmented their number to about 1500 strong. Our number was about 800. We were encamped within half a mile of each other in plain view. Our officers determined to give them a battle at four o'clock in the evening. Accordingly, at four o'clock the drum beat a general parade which was cheering to every man. We then marched up with 763 men and formed the line of battle within 200 yards of the enemy, where they stood in good order to receive us. We then marched up within good rifle shot, our men and officers pleasant and cool and as brave as lions. Firing then commenced from both sides. Our colonel then ordered Yankee Doodle played and beat in double quick time and we were commanded to charge, and it appeared to me that we were among them in an instant and it would have done your heart good to have seen them fall. Our cannons, our muskets and rifles and pistols played, it appeared to me, the most delightful tune that ever I heard since the world commenced. I had a first rate rifle and about this time I was using her, sir, with all my might. She ran about 40 to the pound and shot first rate. I took notice to some of the big yellow bullies. When Betsy would bore a hole in them, the blood would gush out as large as a cornstalk. One big fellow, I remember, I shot in the neck, and it appeared to me that it had nearly cut his head off. It seemed to do me more good at that time to see them shot or a bayonet run through them than anything that I have ever yet seen, and it appeared to be the prevailing sentiment. When we got so near them as to shake hands with them, they could not bear that. They appeared rather bashful at such a meeting as that and turned their backs upon us. They beat their way off. About that time we were slaying them like cornstalks. This was an open field fight.

"We gained complete victory over them in about 16 minutes. We took about 700 prisoners, a large number of which were wounded. A large number of the wounds proved mortal. We took all the officers except one lieutenant-colonel and one captain, who made their escape. We have the Great Santa Anna now a prisoner with three other of his generals with officers to the amount of about 30. There were many officers killed. We had six men killed and two died from their wounds, we had about 25 wounded. The people are determined to kill Santa Anna and I expect, with all his principal officers. I told you the Mexicans marched in three divisions. We defeated Santa Anna's division and an armistice was entered into. The Mexican army then marched away to Matamoros, and our wise men were trying to make a treaty with Santa Anna. They effected it as they thought, and put him on board vessel to send him. But the people would not stand for it. They brought him back.

"We got the news on the nineteenth instant that the same army was retracing their steps back to Texas and swearing to exterminate every American to the Sabine River or never see Mexico again. Their number is ten thousand. The people are ordered to turn out in mass and repair to the seat of war with all possible haste."

Due to the time at which it was written, the letter ended without giving the subsequent results from the battle.

Former Poor Boy Is Now Executive

A few years ago a poor boy, believing that business held a real future for him, went to a banker friend with a request for a loan to put him thru Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas. The banker, believing both in the lad and in the efficiency of T. C. C. training, advanced him $210. Today that former poor boy, as a result of that loan and the course it enabled him to take, is one of the most respected citizens of Austin, Texas, chief executive of a thriving life insurance company, which nets him an income of over $5000 a year. That young lad was no other than Mr. F. W. Woolsey. During his course at T. C. C., young Woolsey became interested in banking and it wasn't long after he was graduated until he was occupying a book-keeping position in a Bay City, Texas, bank. After rising to the position of Assistant Cashier, he accepted a position with the State Banking Department. While in that position he became interested in the insurance business and bought an interest in the Austin Mutual Life Insurance Company. Later, giving up all other interests, he devoted his entire time to this business and has built it up from a small business to a prosperous one with a splendid future.

"T. C. C. training gave me a start and has helped me at every step of the way," he says.

Mr. Woolsey's story shows you that if you WANT to make your mark in the world, you CAN. SAMUEL BELL MAXEY
1875-1887

Samuel Bell Maxey was born in Tompkinsville, Monroe County, Ky., on March 30, 1825. His family was of Huguenot descent and moved to Kentucky from Virginia. His father was clerk of the county and circuit courts of Clifton County, Kentucky.

Samuel Maxey attended common schools and was graduated from the Military Academy at West Point at the age of twenty-one. He was brevetted second lieutenant of the seventh infantry on July 1, 1846, and as second lieutenant of the eighth infantry on February 23, 1847.

During the Mexican War Lieutenant Maxey served at the siege of Vera Cruz, and the battle of Cerro Gordo. He was brevetted first lieutenant in August, 1847 for gallant conduct at Contreras and Churubusco. He was also at Molino del Rey and the capture of the City of Mexico. General Winfield Scott made him commander of a picked company in the city guard. After the war he was stationed at Jefferson Barracks, but resigned in September 1849, returned to Kentucky and studied law. In 1850 he began the practice of law at Albany, Clifton county, Ky., where he served as clerk of the county and circuit courts and as master in chancery in 1852-1856.

He married a Miss Denton in 1853 and in 1857 removed to Paris, Lamar county, Texas, where he engaged in the private practice until 1858. In 1858-1859 he served as district attorney of Lamar county. Maxey had been brought up a Whig, but the upheaval in politics made him a Democrat. He voted for John C. Breckinridge and afterward favored the secession of the State.

In 1861 he was elected to the State senate for four years, but he declined and raised the ninth Texas infantry for the Confederate Army, of which he was colonel and joined General Albert Sidney Johnston in March 1862 at Decatur, Alabama, whence he was sent to Chattanooga to collect and reorganize troops to be in preparedness for the possible advance of Buell. In the meantime he had been made a brigadier-general. He now served under General Bragg and assailed the rear of Buell's army on its retreat, driving it from Bridgeport, Battle Creek and Stevenson and making valuable captures of stores, etc.

He was under General Joseph E. Johnston in the defense of Jackson, Mississippi. In 1863, President Davis ordered General Maxey to take command of the Indian territory. He organized that military district and placed 8000 men under arms. In 1864, with these troops he assailed General Sterling Price at Prairie Donne and at Poison Springs he fought General Frederick Steele and captured his entire train of about 227 wagons, thus compelling him to retreat. For these services he was made a major-general.

After the war General Maxey resumed the practice of law at his home in Paris, Texas and was appointed judge but declined to accept the appointment. In 1874 he was elected to the United States Senate and took his seat on March 4, 1875. He was re-elected to the United States Senate in 1881. In addition to serving as chairman of the Committee on Post Offices he was an active member of the Committees on Territories, Military Affairs, and Labor and Education. He endeavored to protect the frontier and insure its peace and safety, to grant liberal appropriations for rivers and harbors and other interior improvements, to procure greater postal facilities and to increase our foreign trade by generous subsidies to steamship lines. His bills first asserted the right of way through the Indian territory, which was afterwards obtained for the railroads thru that region. General Maxey favored revenue reform and regarded a protective tariff as unconstitutional and oppressive. His connection with the "Star Route" frauds was proved to be without foundation.

Upon his retirement from the United States Senate on March 3, 1887, General Maxey located in Eureka Springs, Arkansas, where he died on August 16, 1895. He was buried at Paris, Texas.

It will build up, strengthen and invigorate the "run-down," nervous, or delicate woman. One who has used it remarked:—"I think Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best tonic a weak woman can take. I had a long spell of sickness, was in a very nervous state, got so weak that I could scarcely be on my feet. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it relieved me of all nervousness and restored me to health. I never took a medicine that did so much for me."—Mrs. P. C. Cromwell, 1415 N. WHAT WE THINK

By FRANK DIXON

In former times some people boasted they voted as they shot, but it is a cinch these days a lot of people did not vote as they drink.

Tell a man there are 270,169,324,481 stars and he will believe you. But if a sign says "Fresh Paint," he has to make a personal investigation.

Lew Rahn says that even an ugly man may become a good-looker when he catches a glimpse of a snappy young flapper.

Oh, trouble's a ton, or trouble's an ounce,
Or a trouble is what you make it;
And it isn't the fact that you're hurt that counts.
But only how did you take it.

Did you ever notice that the higher eggs are, the smaller they are?

Those who have nothing in their pockets should pocket their pride.

Next to the man who sloshes thru a mud hole and splatters up your new car, the meanest driver is the one who parks his machine in the middle of a space large enough to hold two limousines.

Jackson Barnett, the Indian gent with a white wife, says out of the $2500 a month he gets from the government his wife allows him $700. We can see no reason why Mr. Barnett should complain. There are a lot of married men who would be tickled pink if the good wife would allow them half that monthly allowance.

We refuse to become overly enthusiastic about that new coal that will burn without leaving ashes or cinders. The little woman has charge of that part of the house. We keep the radio going.

It is said that a St. Louis, Mo., negro is making from $3 to $10 a day selling "black cat wishbones." Who says opportunity no longer knocks at any man's door?

Then there is the fellow who brags that he gets up every morning at five. About all most town men who get up at five do, is disturb the rest of the family who want the sleep and need it.

All the bootlegger wants is to be let alone.

Would You Attend a Business College

Realizing that a great number of young people are deprived of an opportunity of attending a business college because of the lack of money, our STUDENT LOAN FUND ASSOCIATION was created for the express purpose of furnishing the necessary help to worthy boys and girls.

We have selected the Tyler Commercial College of Tyler, Texas as the college we can most consistently recommend. This is one of the oldest business schools as well as one of the most widely known for its thorough work and its successful graduates out in the world of business.

We have made arrangements with the Tyler Commercial College by means of which we can take care of a limited number of young people thru our loan fund.

If you are in good standing in your community and can furnish the best of references, we shall be glad to help you. We have helped a number of deserving young people in the past who are now independent wage earners and enthusiastic boosters for our Association.

We are especially interested in helping young men and young women who have been forced on account of financial reasons to drop out of high school or college.

In order to receive help from this Association it is only necessary to clip the coupon attached and mail it to us or to the Tyler Commercial College. We can then work out a plan whereby you will be enabled to enter the College even though your funds are limited.

Texas and Texans

By Will H. Mayes

Texas Mineral Production

Texas is hardly classed among the mineral production states because so little attention has been given to mining. In recent years its mines have been attracting more attention, and according to the United States Department of Commerce mineral production is now increasing at a rapid rate. The principal productions are gold, silver, lead and copper, and the increase in these from the year 1927 to the year 1928 ranged from 30 per cent in silver to more than 1000 per cent in copper. Geologists say that the surface has hardly been touched in the geological development of Texas. Richer mines will be uncovered in West Texas than have yet been in men's richest dreams.

Texas Pink Granite

There is no better or prettier building material anywhere than the pink granite that comes from Granite Mountain in Burnet county. A company operating there has just completed the delivery of the granite to be used in the Waxahachie courthouse. The same company has orders ahead to keep its present equipment and force busy for several months working on full time. Burnet and Llano counties have enough granite to supply all the needs of Texas for years to come, yet there are some builders who pass up the Texas product for something not so good, and far more expensive. Texas pride should cause Texas products to be put into Texas buildings.

What is Antimony?

Few people know what is meant when antimony is mentioned and some may confuse it with a tax for wife desertion. It is a metal or chemical used extensively in alloys with lead and tin to give them hardness. It is sometimes used in compounds of medicines and in the arts. Congress is being asked to increase the duty on in which event it is announced that antimony from 2 to 4 cents a pound, an antimony smelter to cost $500,000 and to employ 200 men will be operated at either Laredo, Brownsville or Eagle Pass. The mineral to be smelted will come largely from Mexico.

Regulating Ice Plants

If a bill introduced by Representative Webb of Ector county becomes a law, the regulation of ice plants will be placed with the Railroad Commission. It is claimed that the varying charges for ice in different parts of Texas make it difficult for those paying the highest prices to compete with others in shipment of fruit and produce that require icing. It is hoped to overcome this through regulation of prices.

Railroad Gets Bus Lines

The granting by the Railroad Commission to authority to the Missouri Pacific Transportation Company, a subsidiary of the Missouri Pacific Rail Lines, to purchase and operate bus lines in South Texas is regarded by many as the opening wedge to the absorption of bus and truck lines by the railroads and the elimination of the strong competition that has arisen in passenger and freight transportation in Texas. If so, the people who build and maintain the highways will fail to profit further to any large extent from a native competition that has been to their advantage.

Value of Pecan Crop

Many Texas papers are taking notice of the value of the native pecan crop to their sections. Large parts of the State are well adapted to pecan culture which is everywhere increasing. Texas now produces 40 per cent of all the pecans grown in the United States, and they are much richer in meat contents than the pecans of any other part of the country. Pecan growers need above all else a co-operative and protective marketing system that prices may be uniform and satisfactory. Pecan growers associations are working along these lines, but as the crop is now rushed to market in a few months, interest in marketing appears to wane with the sale of each crop. The Texas pecan crop can be made more valuable to Texas than the grape crop is to California, but there will have to be organization first.

Doubtful Book Deals

Almost from the adoption of the free text book law in Texas there have been scandals and rumors of crookedness in connection with the purchase of textbooks. The book lobby that almost perpetually hovers over Austin and permeates the whole State is one of the strongest and most assiduous of all the lobbies. It is likely to be investigated by the present legislature. Lobbying has become a high-priced and dangerous occupation in Texas—dangerous to the tax money of the people. Many lawyers and ex-members of the legislative bodies receive the largest part of their incomes from lobbying. Something of the hard-fist methods of former Gov. Tom Campbell is needed in thinning out Texas lobbyists.

Autoplate Making

Another effort will be made to have the Texas penitentiary make the auto license plates and the road signs needed by the State. No good reason can be given why the penitentiary should not manufacture many of the supplies needed by the state, unless it be that in doing so the State is in competition with labor. Unless the prisoners remain absolutely idle they are in competition with some form of labor, and there is no good reason why the prison system should restrict its operations to competition with farm labor.

Reducing Turkey Crop

Because the price for turkeys for the Thanksgiving and Christmas trade last year fell below their expectations some turkey growers are now talking about quitting the business or reducing the number grown. Despite whatever disappointment there was as to the price, turkeys provide profitable to most growers and consumers felt that the prices paid by them was high enough. The chances are, though, that the 1929 supply of Texas turkeys will at least equal that of last year.

Frisco Plans Extension

The Frisco road has applied for authority to build a line from Paducah in Cottle county to Groom in Carson county. The Frisco would acquire the Gulf, Texas & Western line, thus giving the Rock-Island-Frisco system some 315 miles of additional lines in the prosperous South Plains section.

Milk Products Plants

Cameron has completed a milk products plant with capacity of 22,000 pounds, which will pay 53 cents for butterfat. The plant will handle the milk from 700 cows and will produce cheese, Bulgarian buttermilk, pasteurized milk and butter. Georgetown and Elgin are other Central Texas towns that are now considering the building of cheese factories.

THE NEWSPAPER

Where do you obtain your knowledge of current events, science, politics and the greater part of your education?

From your newspaper.

When your merchants need business, thru what medium do they obtain it?

Your newspaper.

When the community and the churches, schools, civic and welfare organizations of the community need community action and co-operation, to what do they appeal?

Your newspaper.

These are some of the reasons why the newspaper is your newspaper and why communities are only as strong and progressive as their newspapers. If there is one quick cure for community somnolence it is a wide-awake newspaper.

The first duty of a newspaper is to transmit to its readers the thoughts and activities of humanity at home and abroad, but the value of that other department of the newspaper—advertising—should be overlooked by none. The public anticipates its shopping by scanning the advertisements in the newspaper, and merchants anticipate their business by newspaper advertising. Advertising is a mutual proposition between all concerned.

Before the rise of present intensive newspaper advertising the public was powerless to plan its buying. Money, time and unsatisfaction was the price paid. At the same time merchants had to be content to wait for business and the most of it came Saturday afternoon and evening, seldom on Monday and never in the morning. Newspapers aid universal employment and appreciation of newspaper advertising permits the public to plan its shopping and has made business for every week day.

GROUNDHOG DAY

While giving an evening lecture Henry Ward Beecher was interrupted by a loud imitation of a cock-crow from the gallery. Looking from his watch to the window, the noted speaker replied to the embarrassment of his hearer:

"It can not be that I have talked until daybreak and yet it must be. The instinct of the lower animals is infallible."

The Groundhog Day myth is no more a test of the infallibility of animal instinct than was Beecher's pun. If it serves as a test at all it is as a test of human gullibility and superstition. And if the test shows a high percentage of both gullibility and superstition it would not be surprising, for most people will believe anything about the weather, whether prophecy, almanac prediction, "sure sign" or "saying."

Nevertheless, the Groundhog Day fable is an interesting and valuable bit of folklore worthy of perpetuation and of annual commemoration. The groundhog's shadow doesn't determine the weather one way or another, but it plays an important part in the traditions of the country. This weather fable is a part of the true American folklore. That some abide by the groundhog's forecast does not in any measure detract from the value of the tradition as folklore.

As the Groundhog Day story goes, there will be a return of wintry weather if the groundhog is frightened back into his hole by his shadow. In these parts of the country where the groundhog makes his burrow wintry weather persists several weeks after February 2, so the picture is without value except to make a dark and dismal February day tolerable to those who trust that unless February 2 augurs an early spring.

SPRINGTIME

Already there are many signs of approaching spring, although officially it is not due to arrive until March 21.

Spring is the season of reincarnation, rejuvenation and radiant life. It is only to man that January represents the birth of a new year and the calendar year is an artificial structure. With plant life and that of the animals the coming of spring is at once the birth of a new year and new life.

Humanity recognizes and speaks

and speaks of a new year as from January 1 but nevertheless observes it from the first breath of spring. After the departure of the dreary and stifling winter and with the coming of refreshing and magnetic spring there is new life and new hope created in the breasts of men and women. Spring brings great plans and high resolves which only winter can demolish or deter.

It is not sufficient to say that the homing instinct is convenient in the spring. It is natural and not to be gainsaid by man or beast. Spring urges the bird to build its nest, the animal to burrow into its mother earth and man to plan his home, but neither bird, beast nor man knows nor asks why. Spring is the one and only irresistible force.

WHEN THE THIMBLE WAS A THUMB-BELL

The thimble, a sewing accessory that appears to be too simple for any comment, nevertheless resulted in the acquisition of a great fortune by its inventor.

Less than 200 years ago, the thimble was unknown to this world. The idea of protecting the fingers from needle pricks, as well as simplifying sewing, suggested itself to John Lofting, an humble metal worker in England. He constructed a metal top that fit snugly on the thumb. Because of its resemblance to a bell and its being worn on the thumb the invention was called a thumb-bell. The article was immediately acclaimed all over England for its usefulness in sewing and the demand for it was widespread. Lofting was obliged to manufacture the article on a large scale and before long found himself a wealthy man. After awhile the innovation was constructed to be worn on the middle finger and the name, thumb-bell was changed to "thimble" or thimble.

A YEAR WITH 455 DAYS

There were 445 days in the year 47 B. C. General Julius Caesar arranged that. The man who had conquered Gaul and set his heel on Rome, was not to be beaten by a little thing like a calendar. There had been a mistake in the old calculations, and the times were nearly three months behind the moon. How to catch up?

"That's easy," said Julius. "We'll have an extra long year and then start right for the rest of time." And so they did. Caesar himself rearranged the calendar and did it very badly too. He gave some months thirty-one days, some thirty and put February off with only twenty-eight, except for leap year. And in order to bring things up to date, he added 80 days to the year in which he established our Julian calendar, to remember which we have had to invent all sorts of rhymes and jingles.

Now we are at it again, trying to change the year to 13 months. Wonder how many months there will be in 2030?

If we were an artist we would select as a model for a picture, not a landscape, or a beautiful girl but a laboring man clad in soiled working clothes trudging home on a Saturday night with an armload of groceries and food for the ones at home. It is a sight common enough in our town on any Saturday night but which never fails to awaken a thrill within us. We always imagine we can sense in the attitude and manner of such a man a deep content and satisfaction born of the joy of service for others.

Most any mechanic can tell the elements necessary to build the human body, but only God can tell the varied forces and experiences necessary to build a full life. The boulder that thwarts the course of the stream may turn it into more beautiful fields and the obstacle that changes the course of a life may in the end direct it to fuller and finer and more beautiful experiences.

Hatching of chicks in Egypt has been conducted on a commercial basis for so many years that hens have completely abandoned the idea of wanting to set on eggs, we are told. Whether or not hens in this country will ever reach that stage is hard to say, but certain it is that more and more farms each year are being stocked with chicks which first saw the light of day in an incubator. Fifty years ago, hens did most of the hatching of chicks in this country. Thirty-four years ago the first shipment of baby chicks was made and the hatchery industry became a reality. In the years since then, there have sprung up about 10,000 hatcheries throughout the United States selling annually a total of about 500,000,000 chicks. Although poultry raisers take many of these chicks, the larger part of them go to farms, because the farmer is finding it a far more economical, more convenient and a much safer plan to purchase his chicks already hatched than to try to hatch them himself.

Mary Burnett Is Honored By Triangle Bridge Club Here

Members of the Triangle Bridge Club honored Miss Mary Burnett, bride-elect, when they met in regular session Monday evening with Mrs. Thad Epperson as hostess. Three tables of club members assembled for the games, at the conclusion of which it was found that Miss Grace Eplen had won high score award, a set of book ends, and Mrs. W. D. Bigbee had won low, an embroidered vanity set. These were presented to the honoree.

The club gave Miss Burnett for a wedding gift, a mahogany magazine rack, which was presented by Mrs. Epperson. The hostess served a delicious salad plate and hot coffee.

Mrs. Mack Fox Gives Bridge Party For Miss Mary Burnett

Mrs. Mack Fox complimented Miss Mary Burnett, bride-elect of Mr. Conn Moody, when she entertained with five tables of Bridge last Friday afternoon. Decorations for the occasion consisted of pots of cyclamen and bowls of yellow narcissi. Score cards were in diamond and heart shapes.

Six games were enjoyed, at the conclusion of which Mrs. W. R. Hoover had made high score and Miss Willyne Hyde low. They were awarded an imported necklace and pin, respectively, which they presented to the honoree. Miss Burnett also received from the hostess a linen guest towel.

The party plate consisted of chicken salad, olives, fruit cake, and hot tea. Table favors, which were lace trimmed georgette handkerchiefs, were successfully cut by Mesdames Ben Baskin, Fred Cable, Pope Sapp, Cecil Barmore and Miss Willyne Hyde. These in turn, very graciously presented them to Miss Burnett.

Kitchen Shower For Bride Elect Here

A delightful courtesy to Miss Mary Burnett, bride-elect of Thursday, was a kitchen shower given by Mrs. Earle Burke Saturday evening, at which time three tables of players were invited to enjoy bridge games. Tallies, descriptive of the occasion, were miniature brides.

High score award, which was won by Miss Burnett, was a nest of bowls. Mrs. Terry Wiley made low score and received a tea apron which she gave the honoree. Mrs. Burke remembered Miss Burnett with a linen luncheon set.

Refreshments consisted of a salad plate with hot tea. Table favors, which were embroidered tea towels, fell to Mrs. Chas. Nabours, Mrs. Cecil Barmore and Mrs. Dero Jenkins, and they also presented these to Miss Burnett.

As a fitting climax to this pleasant evening, Mrs. Burke brought to the bride-elect a hat box filled with utensils useful in the kitchen. No two items were duplicated in the generous shower.

John A. Smith Dinner Host To His Friends

John A. Smith was dinner host to a few of his friends at his home last Tuesday evening. A color scheme of pink and green was used in the appointments, the center piece for the table being a crystal tree resting on a reflector. Pink tapers in crystal holders were used on each side of the center piece. Favors were novelty dolls made of mints and life-savers carrying out the chosen colors.

A four-course collation was served by Mrs. John A. Smith, mother of the host, and Miss Janice Jones of Hillsboro to the following guests: Misses Laurita Evans, Arnette Ryan, Julia Mae McCollum and Gladys Jewel Copus; Waymon Jenness, Ben Atkinson, James Beard of Milano and John A. Smith.

M. Clark is defendant said petition alleging:

Plaintiff alleges that she, and the defendant were married on the 20th day of July 1927, and the defendant was an adventurer, and that he was guilty of cruel conduct toward her and abused her and refused to provide for her and his conduct was so outrageous toward her that it rendered her living together with him insupportable, and she now declares that she never again will live with him or cohabit with him as his wife, and she sues him for a divorce on account of such cruel treatment, of which he was guilty in Milam county, Texas, and for costs of suit, for the restoration of her former name, and for general and special relief.

Presbyterian Choir Music Praised; Big Feature of Service

Director and members of Presbyterian Church Choir,

Friends: Permit me, not as a member of your church but as a friend of Mr. Kenney, the church and the choir to offer my congratulations on the choir's musical program rendered Sunday, January 13th. Now I do not in any measure arrogate to myself any extraordinary ability as a musician, but think I am capable of judging good music and singing when I hear it. The anthem "Son of Righteousness" was very, very pretty and beautifully rendered. I have heard many expressions from others complimenting the Anthem. Please render this number again at some future date.

We are all aware of the fact that large numbers of people attend church services not only to hear the sermons, but particularly for the song services. I believe that the choir of the Presbyterian church with its faithful and efficient director, organist and members is capable of giving to those of us who love music the best in our little city.

Let us all pull together and keep the good preaching and singing going whether we be church members or not.

Sincerely,
S. W.

Silk Is Made From Cotton In Hugh Plant

A plant costing $53,000,000 is being completed in the hills of eastern Tennessee to make artificial silk from cotton. The product has no relation to rayon, the synthetic silk made from cellulose extracted from wood fibre. The new artificial silk is said to look like real silk, feel like it and also to wear like it.

The heaviest wood known is ironwood. It weighs 81 pounds per square foot and sinks in water.

Airplane Takes Non-Stop Record from Birds

Man has at last outdistanced the birds and now holds the undisputed non-stop flying record of the world. The late Arturo Ferrarin, Italian flyer whose record making flight from Rome to Brazil covered 4,736.7 miles, beat by about 700 miles the flight of a giant albatross which fled from the Crozet Islands to Rottneest Island off the coast of Australia, carrying about its neck a frantic message from 13 shipwrecked sailors of the French vessel "Tamarais." Proof that the bird had not stopped for food lay in the fact that the wire holding the message was drawn so tight it could not swallow. Aviators also hold both speed and altitude records over the birds. The highest a bird is known to have flown is 20,000 feet, while aviators have gone 38,000. Birds never fly faster than 60 miles an hour, except before a gale.

Cautious

Rastus Jackson, a thoroughly married ducky was one day approached by a life insurance agent.

"Better leave me write your policy, Rastus," suggested the agent.

"No, sah," declared Rastus emphatically, "Ah aint any too safe at home as it is."

Not Perfect

An alumnae of a nearby college was entertaining her former history professor at dinner, much to the interest of her three small sons. Jack, the eldest, kept eyeing the professor closely, and finally, after dinner, he asked, "Mother, you say Prof. Smith was your History professor?"

"Yes, son, and a splendid one too."

"Well," pronounced the six year old observer, "he has a hole in his sock."

Riegel Was Criticised for Running in the Wrong Direction

It was a costly error, but the results were only temporarily serious. Next month, next year it will be forgotten.

More serious than the error committed by Riegel is the error committed by citizens of this community who are development of this community.

They are running away from the goal. Too often, like Riegel they do not realize it until too late, but they are robbing their own town of the help and assistance they might give.

Instead of pulling back they should about face and work for the things that this community needs and must have, to thrive and prosper. The whole team suffered for Riegel's mistake and the whole of Cameron is suffering because some of its citizens are pulling in the wrong direction.

Let the new year be a time to about face, to resolve to help and cease hindering in the program for a bigger and better Cameron, to press forward rather than to pull back, to be a force for progress, to help, to lift, to pull together.

News From the Capitol and Report of Legislative Proceedings

The third week in the Texas legislature saw much activity, but little real progress toward a program of legislation. Leadership has been "conspicuous by its absence." However, the 41st Legislature has shown signs of accomplishing, haphazard fashion, many constructive reforms in government. As usual, the progress of worth-while legislation is hampered by the time necessary to take care of a multitude of bills proposing ill-advised and little-needed legislation.

Control of public utilities. That question has brought more attention than any other yet submitted to the Legislature. The idea has received wide praise and much protest. Gov. Moody is taking a lead in the fight for control of utilities.

The purpose is advanced in two bills that have been introduced in the Senate. A bill by Senators Westbrook and Wirtz proposes to enlarge the scope of the Railroad Commission to control of public utilities. Senator Holbrook has a bill providing for a separate utility commission. The Westbrook-Wirtz bill seeks to regulate and supervise the manufacture and distribution of all public utilities commodities that are sold to the public. It includes gas, electricity, steam, or any other commodity used for heat, light or power, water distribution, transportation of persons whether by railroads or busses and telegraph and telephone systems.

A hearing on the measure was held Thursday night by the Senate State Affairs Committee, before which appeared Gov. Moody, about 100 public utility representatives and a large number of city representatives, and other interested persons. The utility representatives and city attorneys have been hostile to the measure.

"Protect the people from rates that are too high," was the plea made by Gov. Moody for a state control of utilities. The attorneys representing the cities were somewhat divided in their views as to state control, but all favored exemption of municipal owned utilities from supervision.

An agree measure, satisfactory to municipalities and to the advocates for utility control, became a prospect Friday following a conference between Gov. Moody and a committee of the city attorneys. It is reported that the Governor and attorneys concurred in favoring utility control to be vested in an agency other than the Railroad Commission.

Gov. Moody has indicated that it is the small towns that he especially seeks to have protected from utility companies, the large cities being better able to take care of themselves. One reason for the opposition of the large cities has been their desire for "home rule," which they think might be impaired by state control.

Further hearing on the bills are scheduled for this week. The proponents are optimistic of enacting one of the proposed bills.

Supervision of ice plant utilities by the Railroad Commission became tangible with a favorable report on the Webb-Holder bill by the House Committee on Common Carriers last week. The bill provides that the Railroad Commission shall be empowered to regulate rates and supervise service of Texas ice companies. This measure has attracted much interest. Several hearings were held on the bill by the Committee.

"Texas is becoming dairy minded," declared Representative Westbrook in stating that supervision of ice companies was necessary in order to insure cheap ice, with a dependable year-round service for rural routes. The cotton farmer is turning to dairying and ice is necessary for this growing industry, according to Westbrook.

Large canned milk companies are establishing condensary plants in certain parts of the State. The farmers are to furnish these plants with milk, it was pointed out by those interested in ice regulation from the farmer's standpoint.

Ice manufacturers are divided on the bill. Ice consumers representatives have strongly urged the passage of the bill. Proponents of the bill testified that there is a wide range in the prices charged for ice and that there is no dependable rural service. Successful supervision of ice companies in other states is cited by the advocates of the measure.

W. D. Hart, Austin ice manufacturer, stated to the Committee that the same thing was happening to the independent ice manufacturer that "happened to the individual grocer with the advent of chain system grocery stores." He cited instances where in two small towns in the vicinity of Austin, where small independent plants were forced out of business by big companies, who then raised the rates to an exorbitant figure.

The repeal of the law prohibiting operation of motion picture theatres on Sunday is sought in a bill introduced by Representatives Dunlap, Enderby, Land and Harding. The unpopularity of the law is cited by the representatives, who say that thousands of people want Sunday movies and are prohibited from having them.

The fight to repeal the search and seizure law brought a personal clash between two representatives during a debate on the measure Friday. Rep. B. J. Forbes of Parker county, a preacher charged across the House floor toward Rep. H. N. Graves of Georgetown, who had declared the bill was "an attempt to repeal the Constitution." The enraged Representative from Parker County had to be seated several times by the House Sergeant-At-Arms. The House was in an uproar of laughter at the incident.

A rural aid bill appropriating $5000 for each year of the next biennium has been reported on favorably by the Senate Finance Committee. Senator Tom Pollard of Tyler is author of the bill. An appropriation of $1,600,000 for each year of the present biennium was made by the 40th Legislature for rural aid.

The Senate and House of Representatives continue to be in a deadlock over the question of when the appropriation bills shall be passed. The House has gone on record as favoring a special session for the passage of money bills, while the Senate insists on putting the appropriations thru during the regular session.

Legislative committees this week will take up the work of investigating the text-book situation and the State Land Office and its administration by Land Commissioner J. T. Robinson, who has been at loggerheads with Governor Moody. Attorney General Pollard and University Regents over the sale of oil and gas leases on the University lands. The connection of Moody, Pollard and the Regents to the controversy over the leases will also be investigated.

Recent activities of 'political preachers' have "reflected no credit to the State or church," declared Representative J. Lewis Thompson of Houston, who would seek to bar political activity of the clergy by legislation. He has introduced in the House a joint resolution proposing a Constitutional amendment, which would bar any pastor or priest from being eligible to serve as governor or as a member of either branch of the Texas legislature. The proposed amendment would be submitted to the people for a vote in a special election to be called by the governor. The measure provides that a sum of $5000 should be set aside for expense of issuing the proclamation of the special election. The resolution has not received consideration yet.

Advocates for a large state bond issue for the financing of a highway program have been "jewed down" to a much smaller figure. The committee of seven, sub-committee of Governor Moody's committee of 31, called recently to make recommendations to the legislature about a highway program, agreed on a $175,000,000 bond issue. R. S. Sterling of Houston, chairman of the Highway Commission has advocated a bond issue of $300,000,000. The committee of 31 estimated that $225,000,000 would do the job. The committee of seven proposed that $100,000,000 be spent in new construction and $75,000 to reimburse counties and road districts for outlays on state highways.

An inspection trip of the state penitentiary farms near Houston was made over the week end by more than one-fifth of the members of the Legislature. Representatives A. H. King of Throckmorton and Senator McFarlane of Graham, chairman of the House and Senate committees on prisons, are leading the tour. The committees will make recommendations to the Legislature from the findings of the tour.

Manufacture of cement for highway construction in three plants to be established by the State is the recommendation made to the Senate by the State Board of Control. The plants would be located in various parts of the state in order to take advantage of freight rates and raw materials.

Many proposals have been made by legislators to build the cement plants and use convict labor to run them. The Highway Department used about 1,500,000 barrels of cement in 1928, it is estimated.

The establishment and maintenance of a State cancer and pellegra institution is favored by the Senate Committee on Public Health. The project is proposed in a bill drawn by Dr. J. W. Beck of DeKalb. The cost of the establishing the institution would be $200,000 and $225,000 for maintenance for the next two years, according to the measure.

Creation of a state bureau of criminal identification is provided for in a bill introduced by Senator John W. Hornsby of Austin. Fingerprint experts would be employed. Records of criminals would be kept for the use of the law enforcing agencies of the state. The bureau would be under supervision of the adjutant-general. The various peace officers' associations have strongly recommended the establishment of the bureau.

Kansas women are invading the saloons and destroying many of them.

Fire destroyed four frame business houses in Rogers last Thursday night. They were all occupied.

R. D. Brown and J. B. McLane attended the Knights Templar meeting in Belton last Thursday night and Mr. Brown was initiated into the mysteries of that degree.

Misses Lena Triggs and Mary Rogers, who have been attending Georgetown University, came home last week on account of the smallpox scare there.

Mrs. S. M. Burns was reported quite sick the first of the week.

Quite a number of Rockdale people were in Cameron Sunday in attendance on the union revival meeting.

The Cameron Drug Co. is fixing up. A new awning has been erected in front of the store and painters are dressing up the inside making things look new and bright.

Twenty-five couples of Rockdale's society people have formed a theatre party for next Tuesday night and will attend the presentation of "When We Were Twenty-One," at the Auditorium in this city on February 5th.

J. A. Brown, the singer who travels with Sid Williams came in Tuesday to see Mrs. Brown, who is visiting her parents here.

To escape a mob which was determined on vengeance, Sheriff Baker of McLennan county brought Will King, the negro who killed Officer Mitchell in Waco last October, to Cameron Monday night for safe keeping.

The jury in the case failed to agree and was discharged by the limitation of the term of court, and the case was transferred to the other district court for trial. The jury stood eleven for the death penalty and one for life imprisonment.

Last week little Bruno Schlatter left for the Presbyterian orphanage at Clinton, S. C. He will be supported there by the Presbyterian church of this city, of which he is a member.

He will be carefully trained and educated, so as to be able to occupy an influential position in the world. Bruno is a bright, intelligent, modest, good boy and a devout little Christian and those who help him will have no reason to regret it, according to present indications. The Presbyterian Sabbath school took affectionate leave of him Sunday the 20th, each of the teachers and pupils telling him goodbye during the singing of a song. This church has kept Lena Kaiser at the Thorndale Orphanage for the past seven years. She has now passed the age and will leave there in June. During this time she has been instructed in all the studies commonly taught in the average female school, and is amply prepared to take a good position in the school room or some other good place.

Former Poor Boy Is Now Executive

A few years ago a poor boy, believing that business held a real future for him, went to a banker friend with a request for a loan to put him thru Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas. The banker, believing both in the lad and in the efficiency of T. C. C. training, advanced him $210.

Today that former poor boy, as a result of that loan and the course it enabled him to take, is one of the most respected citizens of Austin, Texas, chief executive of a thriving life insurance company, which nets him an income of over $5000 a year. That young lad was no other than Mr. F. W. Woolsey.

During his course at T. C. C., young Woolsey became interested in banking and it wasn't long after he was graduated until he was occupying a book-keeping position in a Bay City, Texas, bank. After rising to the position of Assistant Cashier, he accepted a position with the State Banking Department. While in that position he became interested in the insurance business and bought an interest in the Austin Mutual Life Insurance Company. Later, giving up all other interests, he devoted his entire time to this business and has built it up from a small business to a prosperous one with a splendid future.

"T. C. C. training gave me a start

and has helped me at every step of the way," he says.

"BUDED ON EARTH, TO BLOOM IN HEAVEN"

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. the death angel visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Price and took from them their darling baby. Little Jimmie was two years, and four months old. He had been a sufferer most all of his life, while yet his death came as a great shock to the family and community as he was laughing and playing with his father when he was called back home to Jesus. As He teaches us, "Suffer little children to come unto me for such is the kingdom of Heaven," he was the sunshine of their home. The entire community as well as the family have been drawn nearer Heaven by his going.

He was laid to rest in the North Elm Cemetery, January 21 at 2:30 p. m., Rev. P. T. Ramsey, officiating with Coleman-Eplen in charge.

Pall bearers were Alphin Buffington, D. M. Scarbrough, and others. Little Jimmie is survived by his parents and six brothers and two sisters. Thou art gone, our precious darling never more shall see your face till we meet you in Heaven in that happy dwelling place.

Written by one who loved him—
Mattie Baggerly.

P. T. A.

The Cameron P. T. A. met Thursday January 24 at 3:30 in the library of the Yoe High school with Mrs. A. C. Freeman, the president, presiding.

Mrs. W. G. Gillis was the speaker of the afternoon, a very interesting and logical address on "Home Responsibility" was delivered.

A round table discussion followed the program. A large number of members were present.

T. N. T. DANCE

The T. N. T. Club sponsored a dance at the Cameron Country Club clubhouse last Friday evening, with Jamie Clark and his six-piece orchestra from Thorndale furnishing the music.

Decorations, which were in the club colors of black and white, consisted of black and white crepe paper streamers, serpentine and confetti. The lights were shaded in blue. Above the mantle was a black placard bearing the club monogram in white.

Chaperones for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. James Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. B. Slocumb and Mrs. Gus Evans.

School Day Party Is Pretty Compliment to Miss Mary Burnett

A school day party was the very clever and unique manner in which Mrs. Pope Sapp chose to honor Miss Mary Burnett, whose marriage to Mr. Conn Moody is to be an event of today. Members of the honoree's club and a few additional friends were invited to enjoy the hospitality Tuesday evening at Mrs. Sapp's home.

The main reception room was transformed into a typical schoolroom with its desks for teacher and children and its dunce stool and cap, the last of which was occupied most of the time by the bride-elect. A party atmosphere was also apparent in the floor baskets and wall brackets filled with chrysanthemums and the pots of hyacinths, which were in the chosen colors of orchid and green.

Mrs. W. E. Hoover was the austere teacher for the occasion. Books bound in green and tied with orchid cord to which was attached a pencil were passed to the guests. There were lessons in the alphabet, in geography, in arithmetic, literature and music. Miss Mary Lake Henderson made the best grade, and she was awarded a pair of chiffon hose which she in turn presented to Miss Burnett. Mrs. W. B. Levy, who made the lowest grade, was consoled with a package of chewing gum which she divided among all the guests.

Everyone was asked to write a poem about the honoree and the judges decided that Mrs. Kathryn E. Robbins had succeeded best. She received a costume pin, and she also gave this to Miss Burnett.

Refreshments were served in typical school baskets which were covered in orchid and green.

The lunch consisted of sandwiches, olives, pickles, candy, cakes and punch. Mrs. Sapp was assisted by Mrs. Raymond Sharpe, Frances Sharpe and Imogene Sapp.

A pleasant surprise for the honoree came after the service in the shape of a miscellaneous shower. A huge book which had been fashioned from a box and which was labeled "The Book of Knowledge" was presented to Miss Burnett by the teacher, Mrs. Hoover. It was filled with all kinds of useful gifts.

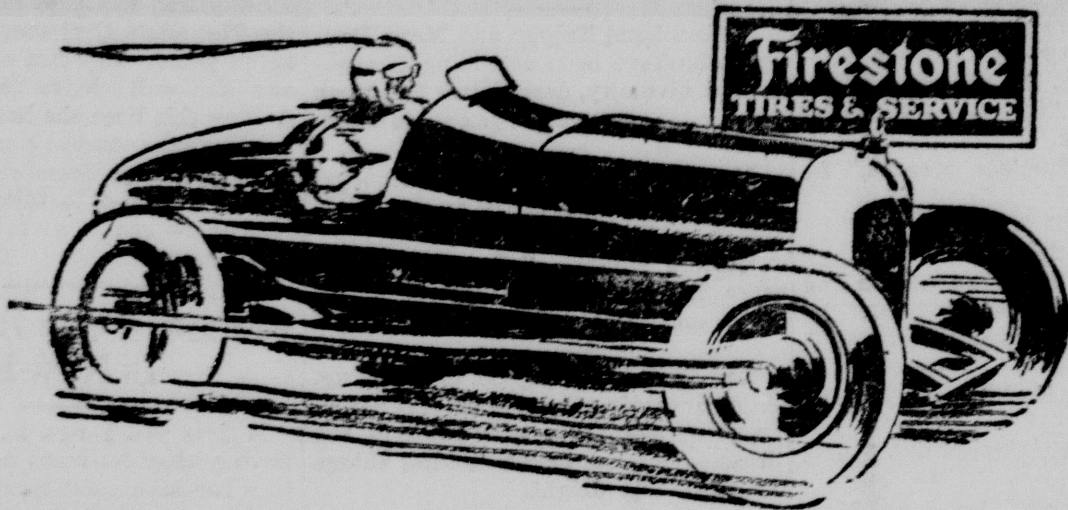

The following new members were initiated into the T. N. T. Club at the regular meeting Monday evening: George Adams, Sam Cheeves, Leland Green, R. B. Rylander, Paul Werner, Joe Rowland, Elmo Baggett, Guy Slocumb, Sam McDermott, Robert Smith, Preston Graves, Clarence Posey, Chas. Schaeg and Ralph Keith.

New Majestic Radio Models Are Here

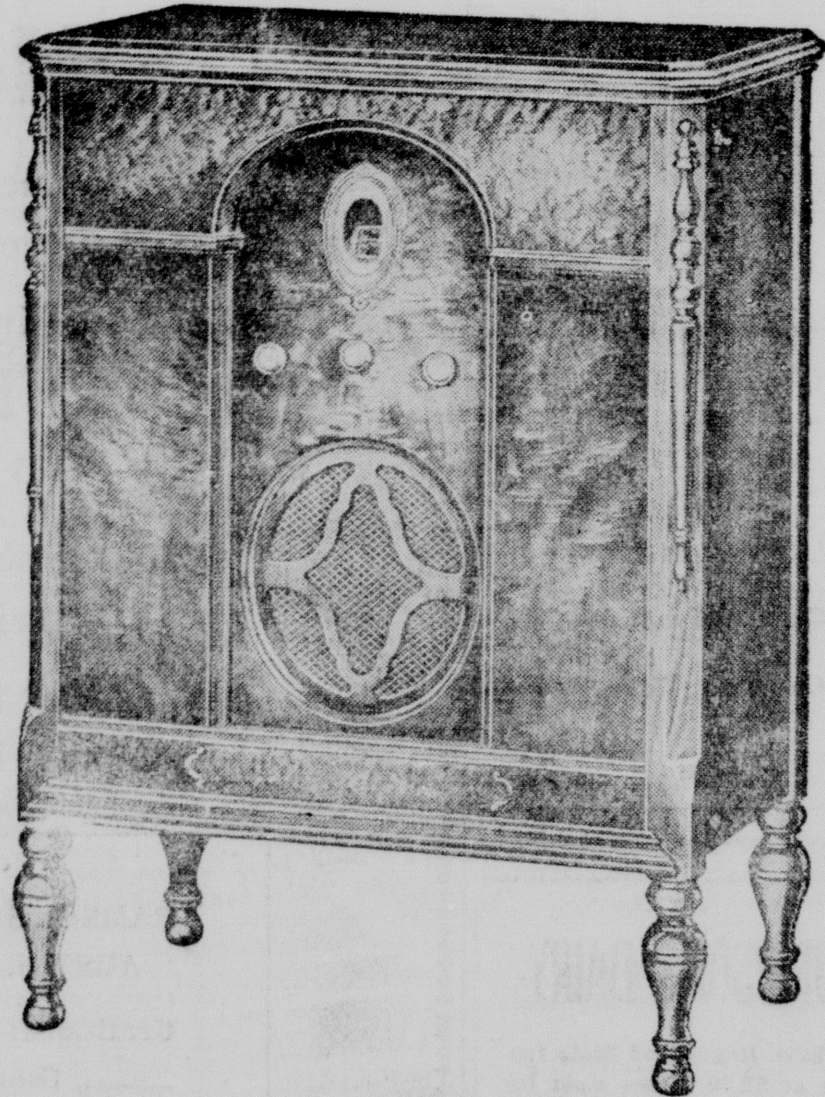

Wonderful Improvements.

The Greatest Radio Made Greater.

When people first hear a Majestic they invariably exclaim: "That is the kind of Radio I have always wanted. Why didn't I hear it before?" The new and mightier Majestic is here. Get a demonstration in your home today. Majestic is truly Mighty Monarch of the Air.

NOTE THESE IMPROVEMENTS

The mechanical improvements on both models, the 71 and the 72, are the same. A great increase of selectivity has been provided. Improvements on the speaker permit it to handle a much larger undistorted volume, with a greatly increased range of tone. The new models cover a 75 per cent greater range of sound frequencies than those of last year.

The exterior appearance of both sets is radically different from that of the old models, embodying the most graceful lines in radio furniture. The over-all appearance of the cabinet of the 72 is one of greater compactness, the receiver being about four inches lower than last year's model, about the same in width but not as deep. The cabinet of walnut and burl walnut, has a very high-polish finish. The doors are of diamond-matched panel-type walnut, inlaid with imported marquetry.

The cabinet of the new 71 is of the low-body type. It is without doors and has a center panel of burl walnut on which are arranged the control and speaker.

The interior arrangement is also entirely different from that of previous models. The speaker has been lowered from its previous position above the set to one below the set, thus making its outlines harmonious with the general lines of the new cabinets and insuring quieter operation. The tuning controls, dial, and speaker are mounted on a centered diamond-grained panel bordered on either side by burl walnut panels.

Listen to the voice of Jim Reed in the Senate. How it thunders. A sincere patriot, this rugged soul from the reaches of the Missouri. Across the aisle sits Borah who explained away the oil reserves and made a prohibition speech in Texas. It has been America always and it will be America to the end, Reed seems to say. He cannot sign a treaty for peace and at the same time build battleships for war. Something about such a procedure that ruffles the soul of sincerity. No note of finality in his voice. "I am going out of here but my flag is held high."

"We don't like Reed," they say. "He fought Wilson." So did Borah but he can sway a Texas audience of prohibitionists. "Listen you dreamers," he said. "Listen and you can hear the roar of furnaces which are forging the plates of great battleships. Listen and you will hear the chorus of mighty hammers shaping the keels of fighting men of the sea." Reed could not go to a foreign nation on a mission of good-will riding a battleship while directing diplomatic exchanges for a bogus peace.

"What is the cry we hear against the bill? They tell us the hearts of men have changed. These self-anointed individuals who compose themselves into the voice of the world say there is no selfishness left." Fortunately Reed is wrong in ultimate theory. Out in the reaches of the world men's hearts have changed. They have never been the same since Woodrow Wilson first cast a sail to that "wind that is sweeping the world." Yes, Reed is wrong, but what a man.

Spent an interesting hour Sunday afternoon in the Regal City of Rockdale. Sat for a while in the office of that delightful citizen, Emory Camp, in company with the Mayor of Cameron. Talked about many things of interest including municipal problems. Mr. Camp has served his city for many years as city attorney and has an extraordinary grasp of city affairs. An interesting personality this man who loves his city and its people. Surely an index to life as we live it among our fellows. Might have gone much further in the scale of human affairs had he turned his face to the populous centers and followed that thing they call ambition. But who can tell. His life has measured much for his community. Some of the world's great characters have lived their lives in surroundings of quiet places. Cities have souls and character as much so as the men who feature them. This man with a turbulent shock of hair and kindly face with a few marks of the years that have run by on the calendar of life, has lived much and served much and service, the philosophers tell us is the measure of a man.

Looking out the window over the quiet city one is impressed by examples of substantial growth and orderly progress. Saw a sign that said "Carriage Repository." Other days knew the value of this bit of obsolete advertising but now we know it no more. The years run by and leave their marks upon us. We cherish in the storehouses of memories many things trite in the nineties. At a street intersection stands an age worn fountain, once the pride of the city and the expression of some city father's civic pride. They no longer use it. It is like Cameron's drinking trough, a marker of a dead age. Rockdale is a city of peace and prosperity, fine homes and atmosphere that compels esteem. Soon the city will begin its paving contract. There are many marks of progress, a growing into the new age. Some day I want to spend more time there. I like the city and maybe they would like me better, who can tell?

What an age? Photographs by radio. Lights that pierce fog. Gas made from water. Machines that think. Horns that can be heard for 40 miles. Beacons that are visible for 250 miles. Locomotives that pull trains two miles in length. Crewless trains and five million volt guns that smash atoms.

Street lights that control clocks. Vending machines that replace salesmen. Cameras that record the path of lightning bolts. Electric shovels that lift 24 tons. Invisible motion picture apparatus to catch burglars. Devices that measure the billionth of an inch, freeze fire, identify delicate color tints, grade cotton, provide secrecy in radio speech, and that will hear light and see sound.

Such are the developments of this astounding age. The list of modern marvels is practically endless. It is no wonder that the popular imagination is fired, and that people of all classes are endeavoring to acquire

"Take life too seriously and what is it worth? If the morning wakes us to no new joy, if the evenings bring us not the hope of new pleasures, is it worthwhile to dress and undress? FATHER HEINZLEMAN NOTED PASTOR DEAD

WESTPHALIA COMMUNITY LEADER FOR 36 YEARS DIES WEDNESDAY MORNING

Westphalia, Texas, Jan. 30.—The town of Westphalia and the entire community is in deep mourning today because of the death of Rev. M. Heinzlemann, beloved pastor of St. Mary's Parish, who for almost thirty-six years had been the leader of this parish.

Rev. Heinzlemann died at six o'clock this morning. The venerable pastor was found dead at Provident Hospital in Waco. Death came to him while seated in a chair. He had risen early in the morning and had dressed with plans to go to the Chapel. One of the Sisters of the hospital went to his room to summon him to breakfast and discovered that he had expired. Death came to him suddenly and in peace as he prepared for the routine of the day. Rev. Heinzlemann had been at the hospital for about two weeks under treatment. He was 63 years of age.

Rev. Heinzlemann was ordained Priest on June 21, 1891 at St. Mary's Cathedral in Galveston by the late Bishop Gallagher. His first appointment was as administrator of St. Joseph's church in Galveston. In May 1892 he was sent to LaGrange where he remained until March 1893. On March 15, 1893 he took charge of St. Mary's Parish at Westphalia where as an irremovable Rector he remained until his death.

In 1894 in the month of February he began the erection of the present church which stands as a monument to his faithful service to his people. The St. Mary's Parish school where more than 200 happy children attend was also erected under his able leadership.

Rev. Heinzlemann was born in Hohenzolleran, Germany, in 1866. He was a man of great scholarship having finished his studies at the University in Freiburg with honors as a young man. Like many of his illustrious countrymen he immigrated to America where at St. Meinard, Indiana he finished his preparation for the priesthood and was ordained by Bishop Gallagher in Galveston.

Rev. Heinzlemann was widely known over the United States and especially so in Texas. The Parish at Westphalia is one of the most popular as well as prosperous parish in this diocese and his capable leadership of the people here is testimony of his ability. There are 212 families and 689 communicants and the number of souls 1055 and 225 pupils enrolled in the school.

The question facing the Parish today is who will succeed Rev. Heinzlemann, but whoever comes to the parish will be welcome.

The funeral will be held at Westphalia Friday morning at ten o'clock with solemn High Mass by Right Rev. Bishop Byrne of Galveston, assisted by the Priests of the Diocese, with interment in the cemetery at Westphalia.

Sad intelligence of the death of Rev. Heinzlemann was received in Cameron at nine o'clock Wednesday morning when Rev. Geo. Apel, beloved pastor of St. Monica's church was apprized of the death of the venerable priest in Waco. Rev. Apel and Rev. Heinzlemann were intimate friends and the people of Westphalia know Father Apel of Cameron as he has visited the Parish there on numerous occasions. Rev. Apel will leave the city Friday morning for Westphalia to assist in the funeral services.

Produce Fraud and Farmers Are Warned Of Much Swindling

Farmers and chicken owners are warned against fraudulent purchase of their produce by persons now going through this section giving worthless checks.

Some kind of fraud has been perpetrated at various times in this section and the farmers should be careful to whom they sell.

First knowledge of this fake was wound at Gause last week when persons came through buying and giving checks on a bank in Bryan. The checks were signed for the Duncan Produce Company. All checks were turned down and investigation shows that no such firm is operating there, it was learned here Monday.

The favorite method of swindle is as follows: An advance man goes through the community and offers high prices for chickens and requires the farmers to gather all their chickens and make ready for the truck which calls in a day or two and the checks are given.

Farmers have been defrauded of considerable quantities of produce in this way and should not sell to anyone except reputable concerns doing business in Milam county.

S. W. CHEEVES SUCCEEDS GREEN AT FIRST NATIONAL

IS ELECTED PRESIDENT AND WILL DIRECT POLICIES OF PIONEER BANK

S. W. Cheeves has been elected president of the First National Bank to succeed A. N. Green who for a number of years has been directing the policies of this pioneer bank.

Mr. Cheeves has acquired all the interests of Mr. Green who was a heavy stockholder in the bank. The deal was consummated last Saturday, it was said at the bank yesterday.

When seen Wednesday Mr. Cheeves had nothing to say beyond the fact that he had purchased the interests of Mr. Green and has been elected president of the bank. Mr. Cheeves does not know at this time just how much time he will be able to devote to the bank, but for the time he is acting in an advisory capacity. Whether he will become active in directing the bank has not yet been determined.

H. M. Hefley, cashier and vice-president, is in charge of the bank and may be named to conduct its affairs as Mr. Cheeves is in the dry goods business here and much of his time is given to that work. Mr. Hefley is well qualified to direct the policies of the bank.

Mr. Green who came to the bank a number of years ago has seen the institution grow from a small bank until it had resources totalling over one million dollars. Mr. Green when seen by a representative of this newspaper declared his plans had not been made for the future but at present he will look after farming interests and other interests that have demanded much of his time.

W. D. Howell of Energy Visits Brother T. A. Howell In Cameron

W. D. Howell of Energy, Texas, in Comanche county, one of the old timers of early Texas and for many years postmaster at his home town, was in Cameron this week to visit with his brother, T. A. Howell.

His son, Ed Howell, has succeeded his father as postmaster.

Mr. Howell is a native of the Old North State but has been in Texas so long, he declares the tar has worn from his heel. With his brother and parents they came from North Carolina in the early days and settled in the Yegua section of Lee county, a wild and untamed section that knew such men as Wild Bill Longley.

A representative of this newspaper found him in company with his brother, T. A. Howell in the office of Judge Jeff T. Kemp the other day. They were talking over old times. Mr. Howell once lived near Gause for 5 years. In 1900 just 29 years ago he moved to Comanche county and has resided there since. While he is well advanced in years he still retains an active interest in life and likes very much to recall the stirring days in this section.

Unlike his brother T. A. Howell, he does not play the fiddle. In those days young T. A. Howell was the most celebrated fiddler in this country and today can thrill an audience with the old music of the seventies as well as any living man. Mr. Howell plays an old tune called "High Upon the Yegua," a tune he learned while living in the brush country of Lee.

Mr. Howell has not taken part in any of the contests here, being a resident he has modestly stepped aside in favor of others. He took all prizes in other days when he played in contests. Mrs. Howell and every member of the T. A. Howell family are musicians. He conducts a music store in Cameron.

Mr. Culpepper formerly resided here and is well known to the people of Cameron.

He will stock candies and sundries and will have a regular jobbing business in these lines, selling and distributing from this point.

Mrs. Boyd Wells and her three sons, Peter, John and Tom of Austin were guests last week end of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Henderson, Sr.

PASTEURIZED MILK TO GO ON SALE FRIDAY

INDUSTRY TO OPEN DOORS FRIDAY AND PAY 53c FOR BUTTER FAT

Friday, February 1 the plant of the American Milk Products Company will open for business with a price of 53c per pound for butter fat.

Delivery of Pasteurized milk will begin with the opening of the plant and a survey made Thursday shows that a large number of homes have requested delivery of their supply of milk.

Those in charge of the plant do not expect a capacity receipt of milk for the first few weeks but indications are that the farmers are awake to the possibilities of the sale of milk to augment the income of the farm.

The plant presented in the last issue of The Herald has a capacity of 22,000 pounds of milk per day and will make a butter, cheese and Bulgarian butter milk in addition to sale of Pasteurized milk.

DR. J. T. FREEMAN IS BURIED AT ROSEBUD

NOTED PHYSICIAN DIES AT HIS PARIS, TENNESSEE HOME FRIDAY MORNING

Dr. J. T. Freeman, 52, noted physician and beloved citizen of Paris, Tennessee, died there on Friday morning January 25, 1929.

J. K. Freeman and Jack Freeman of Cameron, brothers, were notified of his death by friends of the dead physician and the body was brought to Rosebud for interment.

Dr. Freeman was a widely known citizen and physician in Tennessee. He was a native of Mississippi but had lived in Paris for many years where he had a large practice and was known and loved by the people.

The body arrived in Rosebud Sunday night where it was taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. Annie Taylor. Funeral services were held Monday morning at ten o'clock with Rev. Reed of the Methodist church conducting the services. The body was buried in the Rosebud cemetery.

The physician was the youngest of 11 children, three of whom live in Cameron and two in Rosebud, four having died. He was the son of T. H. Freeman, a native of Alabama and a pioneer in Mississippi. The Freeman family lived in Cenewah, a small settlement in the timber country of Mississippi and there the children under their sturdy pioneer parents grew to manhood. The years have separated them, the doctor being the only one to live for any length of time after maturity in the region where the family was born.

Dr. Freeman had been quite active until the day before his death. An influenza epidemic was raging at Paris and the physician worked at night to attend the sick. He complained of feeling ill on Thursday. A doctor and nurse were called in and he was treated. At night he dismissed the nurse for her rest as he was feeling somewhat improved. Some hours later he was found dead in his bed.

Friends in Cameron of the family of brothers and sisters will be sincerely grieved to learn of their misfortune.

Surviving brothers and sisters are: Mrs. Mollie Burling of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Annie Taylor, Rosebud; J. K. Freeman of Cameron; T. H. Freeman of Rosebud; J. B. Freeman of Cameron and Mrs. Susie Givhan of Lexington, Ky.

Toncan Iron for Roof Of Christian Church

Robert Polansky of Caldwell and force of workmen have just finished the roof of the Christian church in Cameron.

The church building has been covered with Toncan iron for which Mr. Polansky is agent both in Burleson and Milam county.

This roofing has proven very popular. Tanks constructed from Toncan Iron have been taken down after 20 years service and found in perfect condition. Recently Mr. Polansky dismantled a 20 year tank and sent portions of it to the foundry and to the distributing agencies of Toncan iron.

Another big job was the Cameron Furniture Company building. Mr. Polansky expects to cover other buildings in Cameron with this permanent though inexpensive roofing.

Graphic Description of Battle of San Jacinto

Graphic description of the battle of San Jacinto is given in a letter written in 1836 by J. W. Hassell, Texas patriot, to his father. Photostat copies of the letter have been secured for the University of Texas library. Mrs. H. J. O'Hair of Coleman, relative of Hassell and a member of the Board of Regents of the University, submitted the letter for photostating.

Hassell was rewarded with 640 acres of land by the Republic of Texas for his heroic part in the war for Texas Independence. Following is Hassell's account of the decisive Battle of San Jacinto:

"On the twenty-first of April, they (the Mexicans) received a reinforcement which augmented their number to about 1500 strong. Our number was about 800. We were encamped within half a mile of each other in plain view. Our officers determined to give them a battle at four o'clock in the evening. Accordingly, at four o'clock the drum beat a general parade which was cheering to every man. We then marched up with 763 men and formed the line of battle within 200 yards of the enemy, where they stood in good order to receive us. We then marched up within good rifle shot, our men and officers pleasant and cool and as brave as lions. Firing then commenced from both sides. Our colonel then ordered Yankee Doodle played and beat in double quick time and we were commanded to charge, and it appeared to me that we were among them in an instant and it would have done your heart good to have seen them fall. Our cannons, our muskets and rifles and pistols played, it appeared to me, the most delightful tune that ever I heard since the world commenced. I had a first rate rifle and about this time I was using her, sir, with all my might. She ran about 40 to the pound and shot first rate. I took notice to some of the big yellow bullies. When Betsy would bore a hole in them, the blood would gush out as large as a cornstalk. One big fellow, I remember, I shot in the neck, and it appeared to me that it had nearly cut his head off. It seemed to do me more good at that time to see them shot or a bayonet run through them than anything that I have ever yet seen, and it appeared to be the prevailing sentiment. When we got so near them as to shake hands with them, they could not bear that. They appeared rather bashful at such a meeting as that and turned their backs upon us. They beat their way off. About that time we were slaying them like cornstalks. This was an open field fight. "We gained complete victory over them in about 16 minutes. We took about 700 prisoners, a large number of which were wounded. A large number of the wounds proved mortal. We took all the officers except one lieutenant-colonel and one captain, who made their escape. We have the Great Santa Anna now a prisoner with three other of his generals with officers to the amount of about 30. There were many officers killed. We had six men killed and two died from their wounds, we had about 25 wounded. The people are determined to kill Santa Anna and I expect, with all his principal officers. I told you the Mexicans marched in three divisions. We defeated Santa Anna's division and an armistice was entered into. The Mexican army then marched away to Matamoros, and our wise men were trying to make a treaty with Santa Anna. They effected it as they thought, and put him on board vessel to send him. But the people would not stand for it. They brought him back.

"We got the news on the nineteenth instant that the same army was retracing their steps back to Texas and swearing to exterminate every American to the Sabine River or never see Mexico again. Their number is ten thousand. The people are ordered to turn out in mass and repair to the seat of war with all possible haste."

Due to the time at which it was written, the letter ended without giving the subsequent results from the battle.

Former Poor Boy Is Now Executive

A few years ago a poor boy, believing that business held a real future for him, went to a banker friend with a request for a loan to put him thru Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas. The banker, believing both in the lad and in the efficiency of T. C. C. training, advanced him $210.

Today that former poor boy, as a result of that loan and the course it enabled him to take, is one of the most respected citizens of Austin, Texas, chief executive of a thriving life insurance company, which nets him an income of over $5000 a year. That young lad was no other than Mr. F. W. Woolsey.

During his course at T. C. C., young Woolsey became interested in banking and it wasn't long after he was graduated until he was occupying a book-keeping position in a Bay City, Texas, bank. After rising to the position of Assistant Cashier, he accepted a position with the State Banking Department. While in that position he became interested in the insurance business and bought an interest in the Austin Mutual Life Insurance Company. Later, giving up all other interests, he devoted his entire time to this business and has built it up from a small business to a prosperous one with a splendid future.

"T. C. C. training gave me a start and has helped me at every step of the way," he says.

Mr. Woolsey's story shows you that if you WANT to make your mark in the world, you CAN. If you are interested in attaining abundant success, clip the coupon printed below and mail it today for the large, free book, "Achieving Success in Business." No obligation, of course. SAMUEL BELL MAXEY
1875-1887

Samuel Bell Maxey was born in Tompkinsville, Monroe County, Ky., on March 30, 1825. His family was of Huguenot descent and moved to Kentucky from Virginia. His father was clerk of the county and circuit courts of Clifton County, Kentucky.

Samuel Maxey attended common schools and was graduated from the Military Academy at West Point at the age of twenty-one. He was brevetted second lieutenant of the seventh infantry on July 1, 1846, and as second lieutenant of the eighth infantry on February 23, 1847.

During the Mexican War Lieutenant Maxey served at the siege of Vera Cruz, and the battle of Cerro Gordo. He was brevetted first lieutenant in August, 1847 for gallant conduct at Contreras and Churubusco. He was also at Molino del Rey and the capture of the City of Mexico. General Winfield Scott made him commander of a picked company in the city guard. After the war he was stationed at Jefferson Barracks, but resigned in September 1849, returned to Kentucky and studied law. In 1850 he began the practice of law at Albany, Clifton county, Ky., where he served as clerk of the county and circuit courts and as master in chancery in 1852-1856.

He married a Miss Denton in 1853 and in 1857 removed to Paris, Lamar county, Texas, where he engaged in the private practice until 1858. In 1858-1859 he served as district attorney of Lamar county. Maxey had been brought up a Whig, but the upheaval in politics made him a Democrat. He voted for John C. Breckinridge and afterward favored the secession of the State.

In 1861 he was elected to the State senate for four years, but he declined and raised the ninth Texas infantry for the Confederate Army, of which he was colonel and joined General Albert Sidney Johnston in March 1862 at Decatur, Alabama, whence he was sent to Chattanooga to collect and reorganize troops to be in preparedness for the possible advance of Buell. In the meantime he had been made a brigadier-general. He now served under General Bragg and assailed the rear of Buell's army on its retreat, driving it from Bridgeport, Battle Creek and Stevenson and making valuable captures of stores, etc.

He was under General Joseph E. Johnston in the defense of Jackson, Mississippi. In 1863, President Davis ordered General Maxey to take command of the Indian territory. He organized that military district and placed 8000 men under arms. In 1864, with these troops he assailed General Sterling Price at Prairie Donne and at Poison Springs he fought General Frederick Steele and captured his entire train of about 227 wagons, thus compelling him to retreat. For these services he was made a major-general.

After the war General Maxey resumed the practice of law at his home in Paris, Texas and was appointed judge but declined to accept the appointment. In 1874 he was elected to the United States Senate and took his seat on March 4, 1875. He was re-elected to the United States Senate in 1881. In addition to serving as chairman of the Committee on Post Offices he was an active member of the Committees on Territories, Military Affairs, and Labor and Education. He endeavored to protect the frontier and insure its peace and safety, to grant liberal appropriations for rivers and harbors and other interior improvements, to procure greater postal facilities and to increase our foreign trade by generous subsidies to steamship lines. His bills first asserted the right of way through the Indian territory, which was afterwards obtained for the railroads thru that region. General Maxey favored revenue reform and regarded a protective tariff as unconstitutional and oppressive. His connection with the "Star Route" frauds was proved to be without foundation.

Upon his retirement from the United States Senate on March 3, 1887, General Maxey located in Eureka Springs, Arkansas, where he died on August 16, 1895. He was buried at Paris, Texas.

WHAT WE THINK

By FRANK DIXON

In former times some people boasted they voted as they shot, but it is a cinch these days a lot of people did not vote as they drink.

Tell a man there are 270,169,324,481 stars and he will believe you. But if a sign says "Fresh Paint," he has to make a personal investigation.

Low Rahn says that even an ugly man may become a good-looker when he catches a glimpse of a snappy young flapper.

Oh, trouble's a ton, or trouble's an ounce,

Or a trouble is what you make it; And it isn't the fact that you're hurt that counts.

But only how did you take it.

Did you ever notice that the higher eggs are, the smaller they are?

Those who have nothing in their pockets should pocket their pride.

Next to the man who sloshes thru a mud hole and splatters up your new car, the meanest driver is the one who parks his machine in the middle of a space large enough to hold two limousines.

Jackson Barnett, the Indian gent with a white wife, says out of the $2500 a month he gets from the government his wife allows him $700. We can see no reason why Mr. Barnett should complain. There are a lot of married men who would be tickled pink if the good wife would allow them half that monthly allowance.

We refuse to become overly enthusiastic about that new coal that will burn without leaving ashes or cinders. The little woman has charge of that part of the house. We keep the radio going.

It is said that a St. Louis, Mo., negro is making from $3 to $10 a day selling "black cat wishbones." Who says opportunity no longer knocks at any man's door?

Then there is the fellow who brags that he gets up every morning at five. About all most town men who get up at five do, is disturb the rest of the family who want the sleep and need it.

All the bootlegger wants is to be let alone.

Would You Attend a Business College

Realizing that a great number of young people are deprived of an opportunity of attending a business college because of the lack of money, our STUDENT LOAN FUND ASSOCIATION was created for the express purpose of furnishing the necessary help to worthy boys and girls.

We have selected the Tyler Commercial College of Tyler, Texas as the college we can most consistently recommend. This is one of the oldest business schools as well as one of the most widely known for its thorough work and its successful graduates out in the world of business.

We have made arrangements with the Tyler Commercial College by means of which we can take care of a limited number of young people thru our loan fund.

If you are in good standing in your community and can furnish the best of references, we shall be glad to help you. We have helped a number of deserving young people in the past who are now independent wage earners and enthusiastic boosters for our Association.

We are especially interested in helping young men and young women who have been forced on account of financial reasons to drop out of high school or college.

In order to receive help from this Association it is only necessary to clip the coupon attached and mail it to us or to the Tyler Commercial College. We can then work out a plan whereby you will be enabled to enter the College even though your funds are limited.

Clip out the coupon and mail it to us, Tyler, Texas, or to THE STUDENT LOAN FUND ASSOCIATION Box 826 Tyler, Texas

Texas and Texans

Texas Mineral Production

Texas is hardly classed among the mineral production states because so little attention has been given to mining. In recent years its mines have been attracting more attention, and according to the United States Department of Commerce mineral production is now increasing at a rapid rate. The principal productions are gold, silver, lead and copper, and the increase in these from the year 1927 to the year 1928 ranged from 30 per cent in silver to more than 1000 per cent in copper. Geologists say that the surface has hardly been touched in the geological development of Texas. Richer mines will be uncovered in West Texas than have yet been in men's richest dreams.

Texas Pink Granite

There is no better or prettier building material anywhere than the pink granite that comes from Granite Mountain in Burnet county. A company operating there has just completed the delivery of the granite to be used in the Waxahachie courthouse. The same company has orders ahead to keep its present equipment and force busy for several months working on full time. Burnet and Llano counties have enough granite to supply all the needs of Texas for years to come, yet there are some builders who pass up the Texas product for something not so good, and far more expensive. Texas pride should cause Texas products to be put into Texas buildings.

What is Antimony?

Few people know what is meant when antimony is mentioned and some may confuse it with a tax for wife desertion. It is a metal or chemical used extensively in alloys with lead and tin to give them hardness. It is sometimes used in compounds of medicines and in the arts. Congress is being asked to increase the duty on in which event it is announced that antimony from 2 to 4 cents a pound, an antimony smelter to cost $500,000 and to employ 200 men will be operated at either Laredo, Brownsville or Eagle Pass. The mineral to be smelted will come largely from Mexico.

Regulating Ice Plants

If a bill introduced by Representative Webb of Ector county becomes a law, the regulation of ice plants will be placed with the Railroad Commission. It is claimed that the varying charges for ice in different parts of Texas make it difficult for those paying the highest prices to compete with others in shipment of fruit and produce that require icing. It is hoped to overcome this through regulation of prices.

Railroad Gets Bus Lines

The granting by the Railroad Commission to authority to the Missouri Pacific Transportation Company, a subsidiary of the Missouri Pacific Rail Lines, to purchase and operate bus lines in South Texas is regarded by many as the opening wedge to the absorption of bus and truck lines by the railroads and the elimination of the strong competition that has arisen in passenger and freight transportation in Texas. If so, the people who build and maintain the highways will fail to profit further to any large extent from a native competition that has been to their advantage.

Value of Pecan Crop

Many Texas papers are taking notice of the value of the native pecan crop to their sections. Large parts of the State are well adapted to pecan culture which is everywhere increasing. Texas now produces 40 per cent of all the pecans grown in the United States, and they are much richer in meat contents than the pecans of any other part of the country. Pecan growers need above all else a co-operative and protective marketing system that prices may be uniform and satisfactory. Pecan growers associations are working along these lines, but as the crop is now rushed to market in a few months, interest in marketing appears to wane with the sale of each crop. The Texas pecan crop can be made more valuable to Texas than the grape crop is to California, but there will have to be organization first.

Doubtful Book Deals

Almost from the adoption of the free text book law in Texas there have been scandals and rumors of crookedness in connection with the purchase of textbooks. The book lobby that almost perpetually hovers over Austin and permeates the whole State is one of the strongest and most assiduous of all the lobbies. It is likely to be investigated by the present legislature. Lobbying has become a high-priced and dangerous occupation in Texas—dangerous to the tax money of the people. Many lawyers and ex-members of the legislative bodies receive the largest part of their incomes from lobbying. Something of the hard-fist methods of former Gov. Tom Campbell is needed in thinning out Texas lobbyists.

Autoplate Making

Another effort will be made to have the Texas penitentiary make the auto license plates and the road signs needed by the State. No good reason can be given why the penitentiary should not manufacture many of the supplies needed by the state, unless it be that in doing so the State is in competition with labor. Unless the prisoners remain absolutely idle they are in competition with some form of labor, and there is no good reason why the prison system should restrict its operations to competition with farm labor.

Reducing Turkey Crop

Because the price for turkeys for the Thanksgiving and Christmas trade last year fell below their expectations some turkey growers are now talking about quitting the business or reducing the number grown. Despite whatever disappointment there was as to the price, turkeys provide profitable to most growers and consumers felt that the prices paid by them was high enough. The chances are, though, that the 1929 supply of Texas turkeys will at least equal that of last year.

Frisco Plans Extension

The Frisco road has applied for authority to build a line from Paducah in Cottle county to Groom in Carson county. The Frisco would acquire the Gulf, Texas & Western line, thus giving the Rock-Island-Frisco system some 315 miles of additional lines in the prosperous South Plains section.

Milk Products Plants

Cameron has completed a milk products plant with capacity of 22,000 pounds, which will pay 53 cents for butterfat. The plant will handle the milk from 700 cows and will produce cheese, Bulgarian butter, pasteurized milk and butter. Georgetown and Elgin are other Central Texas towns that are now considering the building of cheese factories.

THE NEWSPAPER

Where do you obtain your knowledge of current events, science, politics and the greater part of your education?

From your newspaper.
When your merchants need business, thru what medium do they obtain it?

Your newspaper.
When the community and the churches, schools, civic and welfare organizations of the community need community action and co-operation, to what do they appeal?

Your newspaper.
These are some of the reasons why the newspaper is your newspaper and why communities are only as strong and progressive as their newspapers. If there is one quick cure for community somnolence it is a wide-awake newspaper.

The first duty of a newspaper is to transmit to its readers the thoughts and activities of humanity at home and abroad, but the value of that other department of the newspaper—advertising—should be overlooked by none. The public anticipates its shopping by scanning the advertisements in the newspaper, and merchants anticipate their business by newspaper advertising. Advertising is a mutual proposition between all concerned.

Before the rise of present intensive newspaper advertising the public was powerless to plan its buying. Money, time and dissatisfaction was the price paid. At the same time merchants had to be content to wait for business and the most of it came Saturday afternoon and evening, seldom on Monday and never in the morning. Newspapers ad universal employment and appreciation of newspaper advertising permits the public to plan its shopping and has made business for every week day.

GROUNDHOG DAY

While giving an evening lecture Henry Ward Beecher was interrupted by a loud imitation of a cock-crow from the gallery. Looking from his watch to the window, the noted speaker replied to the embarrassment of his heckler:

"It can not be that I have talked until daybreak and yet it must be. The instinct of the lower animals is infallible."

The Groundhog Day myth is no more a test of the infallibility of animal instinct than was Beecher's pun. If it serves as a test at all it is as a test of human gullibility and superstition. And if the test shows a high percentage of both gullibility and superstition it would not be surprising, for most people will believe anything about the weather, whether prophecy, almanac prediction, "sure sign" or "saying."

Nevertheless, the Groundhog Day fable is an interesting and valuable bit of folklore worthy of perpetuation and of annual commemoration. The groundhog's shadow doesn't determine the weather one way or another, but it plays an important part in the traditions of the country. This weather fable is a part of the true American folklore. That some abide by the groundhog's forecast does not in any measure detract from the value of the tradition as folklore.

As the Groundhog Day story goes, there will be a return of wintry weather if the groundhog is frightened back into his hole by his shadow. In these parts of the country where the groundhog makes his burrow wintry weather persists several weeks after February 2, so the picture is without value except to make a dark and dismal February day tolerable to those who trust that sunless February 2 augurs an early spring.

SPRINGTIME

Already there are many signs of approaching spring, although officially it is not due to arrive until March 21.

Spring is the season of reincarnation, rejuvenation and radiant life. It is only to man that January represents the birth of a new year and the calendar year is an artificial structure. With plant life and that of the animals the coming of spring is at once the birth of a new year and new life.

Humankind recognizes and speaks

and speaks of a new year as from January 1 but nevertheless observes it from the first breath of spring. After the departure of the dreary and stifling winter and with the coming of refreshing and magnetic spring there is new life and new hope created in the breasts of men and women. Spring brings great plans and high resolves which only winter can demolish or deter.

It is not sufficient to say that the homing instinct is convenient in the spring. It is natural and not to be gainsaid by man or beast. Spring urges the bird to build its nest, the animal to burrow into its mother earth and man to plan his home, but neither bird, beast nor man knows nor asks why. Spring is the one and only irresistible force.

WHEN THE THIMBLE WAS A THUMB-BELL

The thimble, a sewing accessory that appears to be too simple for any comment, nevertheless resulted in the acquisition of a great fortune by its inventor.

Less than 200 years ago, the thimble was unknown to this world. The idea of protecting the fingers from needle pricks, as well as simplifying sewing, suggested itself to John Lofting, an humble metal worker in England. He constructed a metal top that fit snugly on the thumb. Because of its resemblance to a bell and its being worn on the thumb the invention was called a thumb-bell. The article was immediately acclaimed all over England for its usefulness in sewing and the demand for it was widespread. Lofting was obliged to manufacture the article on a large scale and before long found himself a wealthy man. After awhile the innovation was constructed to be worn on the middle finger and the name, thumb-bell was changed to "thimble" or thimble.

A YEAR WITH 455 DAYS

There were 445 days in the year 47 B. C. General Julius Caesar arranged that. The man who had conquered Gaul and set his heel on Rome, was not to be beaten by a little thing like a calendar. There had been a mistake in the old calculations, and the times were nearly three months behind the moon. How to catch up?

"That's easy," said Julius. "We'll have an extra long year and then start right for the rest of time." And so they did. Caesar himself rearranged the calendar and did it very badly too. He gave some months thirty-one days, some thirty and put February off with only twenty-eight, except for leap year. And in order to bring things up to date, he added 80 days to the year in which he established our Julian calendar, to remember which we have had to invent all sorts of rhymes and jingles.

Now we are at it again, trying to change the year to 13 months. Wonder how many months there will be in 2030?

If we were an artist we would select as a model for a picture, not a landscape, or a beautiful girl but a laboring man clad in soiled working clothes trudging home on a Saturday night with an armload of groceries and food for the ones at home. It is a sight common enough in our town on a Saturday night but which never fails to awaken a thrill within us. We always imagine we can sense in the attitude and manner of such a man a deep content and satisfaction born of the joy of service for others.

Most any mechanic can tell the elements necessary to build the human body, but only God can tell the varied forces and experiences necessary to build a full life. The boulder that thwarts the course of the stream may turn it into more beautiful fields and the obstacle that changes the course of a life may in the end direct it to fuller and finer and more beautiful experiences.

Hatching of chicks in Egypt has been conducted on a commercial basis for so many years that hens have completely abandoned the idea of wanting to set on eggs, we are told. Whether or not hens in this country will ever reach that stage is hard to say, but certain it is that more and more farms each year are being stocked with chicks which first saw the light of day in an incubator. Fifty years ago, hens did most of the hatching of chicks in this country. Thirty-four years ago the first shipment of baby chicks was made and the hatchery industry became a reality. In the years since then, there have sprung up about 10,000 hatcheries throughout the United States selling annually a total of about 500,000,000 chicks. Although poultry raisers take many of these chicks, the larger part of them go to farms, because the farmer is finding it a far more economical, more convenient and a much safer plan to purchase his chicks already hatched than to try to hatch them himself.

Many a fellow who's a big noise at the office is only a little squeak at home.

The expensive thing about a car is the pride that makes you want a shiny new one every year.

English women are said to be taking to driving cars, but whether from the back seat is not stated.

With Mussolini running things no wonder just what the King of Italy does to justify him in drawing his salary.

There seems to be an opinion on the part of many who invested in recent get-rich-quick schemes that they didn't make it.

Now it is stated that medical science has lengthened life 12 to 14 years. Somehow it sounds just like these government reports telling how much more money we have than we had last month.

Better Cotton Seed For Milam County Farmers

A car load of Big Boll Russell and Qualla planting seed for cotton farmers have been received here by A. E. Green and have been stored in the building adjoining the Herald Office.

The seed is put up in three bushel sacks and ready for delivery. This cotton is said to be very productive in this section of Texas and wonderful producer of long staple lint. Mr. Green is now ready to serve the farmers as an advertisement in this issue will indicate.

Mary Burnett Is Honored By Triangle Bridge Club Here

Members of the Triangle Bridge Club honored Miss Mary Burnett, bride-elect, when they met in regular session Monday evening with Mrs. Thad Epperson as hostess. Three tables of club members assembled for the games, at the conclusion of which it was found that Miss Grace Eplen had won high score award, a set of book ends, and Mrs. W. D. Bigbee had won low, an embroidered vanity set. These were presented to the honoree.

The club gave Miss Burnett for a wedding gift, a mahogany magazine rack, which was presented by Mrs. Epperson. The hostess served a delicious salad plate and hot coffee.

Mrs. Mack Fox Gives Bridge Party For Miss Mary Burnett

Mrs. Mack Fox complimented Miss Mary Burnett, bride-elect of Mr. Conn Moody, when she entertained with five tables of Bridge last Friday afternoon. Decorations for the occasion consisted of pots of cyclamen and bowls of yellow narcissi. Score cards were in diamond and heart shapes.

Six games were enjoyed, at the conclusion of which Mrs. W. R. Hoover had made high score and Miss Willyne Hyde low. They were awarded an imported necklace and pin, respectively, which they presented to the honoree. Miss Burnett also received from the hostess a linen guest towel.

The party plate consisted of chicken salad, olives, fruit cake, and hot tea. Table favors, which were lace trimmed georgette handkerchiefs, were successfully cut by Mesdames Ben Baskin, Fred Cable, Pope Sapp, Cecil Barmore and Miss Willyne Hyde. These in turn, very graciously presented them to Miss Burnett.

Kitchen Shower For Bride Elect Here

A delightful courtesy to Miss Mary Burnett, bride-elect of Thursday, was a kitchen shower given by Mrs. Earle Burke Saturday evening, at which time three tables of players were invited to enjoy bridge games. Tallies, descriptive of the occasion, were miniature brides.

High score award, which was won by Miss Burnett, was a nest of bowls. Mrs. Terry Wiley made low score and received a tea apron which she gave the honoree. Mrs. Burke remembered Miss Burnett with a linen luncheon set.

Refreshments consisted of a salad plate with hot tea. Table favors, which were embroidered tea towels, fell to Mrs. Chas. Nabours, Mrs. Cecil Barmore and Mrs. Dero Jenkins, and they also presented these to Miss Burnett.

As a fitting climax to this pleasant evening, Mrs. Burke brought to the bride-elect a hat box filled with utensils useful in the kitchen. No two items were duplicated in the generous shower.

John A. Smith Dinner Host To His Friends

John A. Smith was dinner host to a few of his friends at his home last Tuesday evening. A color scheme of pink and green was used in the appointments, the center piece for the table being a crystal tree resting on a reflector. Pink tapers in crystal holders were used on each side of the center piece. Favors were novelty dolls made of mints and life-savers carrying out the chosen colors.

A four-course collation was served by Mrs. John A. Smith, mother of the host, and Miss Janice Jones of Hillsboro to the following guests: Misses Laurita Evans, Arnette Ryan, Julia Mae McCollum and Gladys Jewel Copus; Waymon Jenness, Ben Atkinson, James Beard of Milano and John A. Smith.

Presbyterian Choir Music Praised; Big Feature of Service

Director and members of Presbyterian Church Choir,

Permit me, not as a member of your church but as a friend of Mr. Kenney, the church and the choir to offer my congratulations on the choir's musical program rendered Sunday, January 13th. Now I do not in any measure arrogate to myself any extraordinary ability as a musician, but think I am capable of judging good music and singing when I hear it. The anthem "Son of Righteousness" was very, very pretty and beautifully rendered. I have heard many expressions from others complimenting the Anthem. Please render this number again at some future date.

We are all aware of the fact that large numbers of people attend church services not only to hear the sermons, but particularly for the song services. I believe that the choir of the Presbyterian church with its faithful and efficient director, organist and members is capable of giving to those of us who love music the best in our little city.

Let us all pull together and keep the good preaching and singing going whether we be church members or not.

Sincerely,
S. W.

Silk Is Made From Cotton In Hugh Plant

A plant costing $53,000,000 is being completed in the hills of eastern Tennessee to make artificial silk from cotton. The product has no relation to rayon, the synthetic silk made from cellulose extracted from wood fibre. The new artificial silk is said to look like real silk, feel like it and also to wear like it.

The heaviest wood known is ironwood. It weighs 81 pounds per square foot and sinks in water.

Airplane Takes Non-Stop Record from Birds

Man has at last outdistanced the birds and now holds the undisputed non-stop flying record of the world. The late Arturo Ferrarin, Italian flyer whose record making flight from Rome to Brazil covered 4,736.7 miles, beat by about 700 miles the flight of a giant albatross which fled from the Crozet Islands to Rottneat Island off the coast of Australia, carrying about its neck a frantic message from 13 shipwrecked sailors of the French vessel "Tamarais." Proof that the bird had not stopped for food lay in the fact that the wire holding the message was drawn so tight it could not swallow. Aviators also hold both speed and altitude records over the birds. The highest a bird is known to have flown is 20,000 feet, while aviators have gone 38,000. Birds never fly faster than 60 miles an hour, except before a gale.

Not Perfect

An alumnae of a nearby college was entertaining her former history professor at dinner, much to the interest of her three small sons. Jack, the eldest, kept eyeing the professor closely, and finally, after dinner, he asked, "Mother, you say Prof. Smith was your History professor?"

"Yes, son, and a splendid one too."

"Well," pronounced the six year old observer, "he has a hole in his sock."

News From the Capitol and Report of Legislative Proceedings

The third week in the Texas legislature saw much activity, but little real progress toward a program of legislation. Leadership has been "conspicuous by its absence." However, the 41st Legislature has shown signs of accomplishing, haphazard fashion, many constructive reforms in government. As usual, the progress of worth-while legislation is hampered by the time necessary to take care of a multitude of bills proposing ill-advised and little-needed legislation.

Control of public utilities. That question has brought more attention than any other yet submitted to the Legislature. The idea has received wide praise and much protest. Gov. Moody is taking a lead in the fight for control of utilities.

The purpose is advanced in two bills that have been introduced in the Senate. A bill by Senators Westbrook and Wirtz proposes to enlarge the scope of the Railroad Commission to control of public utilities. Senator Holbrook has a bill providing for a separate utility commission. The Westbrook-Wirtz bill seeks to regulate and supervise the manufacture and distribution of all public utilities commodities that are sold to the public. It includes gas, electricity, steam, or any other commodity used for heat, light or power, water distribution, transportation of persons whether by railroads or busses and telegraph and telephone systems.

A hearing on the measure was held Thursday night by the Senate State Affairs Committee, before which appeared Gov. Moody, about 100 public utility representatives and a large number of city representatives, and other interested persons. The utility representatives and city attorneys have been hostile to the measure.

"Protect the people from rates that are too high," was the plea made by Gov. Moody for a state control of utilities. The attorneys representing the cities were somewhat divided in their views as to state control, but all favored exemption of municipal owned utilities from supervision.

An agree measure, satisfactory to municipalities and to the advocates for utility control, became a prospect Friday following a conference between Gov. Moody and a committee of the city attorneys. It is reported that the Governor and attorneys concurred in favoring utility control to be vested in an agency other than the Railroad Commission.

Gov. Moody has indicated that it is the small towns that he especially seeks to have protected from utility companies, the large cities being better able to take care of themselves. One reason for the opposition of the large cities has been their desire for "home rule," which they think might be impaired by state control.

Further hearing on the bills are scheduled for this week. The proponents are optimistic of enacting one of the proposed bills.

Supervision of ice plant utilities by the Railroad Commission became tangible with a favorable report on the Webb-Holder bill by the House Committee on Common Carriers last week. The bill provides that the Railroad Commission shall be empowered to regulate rates and supervise service of Texas ice companies. This measure has attracted much interest. Several hearings were held on the bill by the Committee.

"Texas is becoming dairy minded," declared Representative Westbrook in stating that supervision of ice companies was necessary in order to insure cheap ice, with a dependable year-round service for rural routes. The cotton farmer is turning to dairying and ice is necessary for this growing industry, according to Westbrook. Large canned milk companies are establishing condensary plants in certain parts of the State. The farmers are to furnish these plants with milk, it was pointed out by those interested in ice regulation from the farmer's standpoint.

Ice manufacturers are divided on the bill. Ice consumers representatives have strongly urged the passage of the bill. Proponents of the bill testified that there is a wide range in the prices charged for ice and that there is no dependable rural service. Successful supervision of ice companies in other states is cited by the advocates of the measure.

W. D. Hart, Austin ice manufacturer, stated to the Committee that the same thing was happening to the independent ice manufacturer that "happened to the individual grocer with the advent of chain system grocery stores." He cited instances where in two small towns in the vicinity of Austin, where small independent plants were forced out of business by big companies, who then raised the rates to an exorbitant figure.

The repeal of the law prohibiting operation of motion picture theatres on Sunday is sought in a bill introduced by Representatives Dunlap, Enderby, Land and Harding. The unpopularity of the law is cited by the representatives, who say that thousands of people want Sunday movies and are prohibited from having them.

The fight to repeal the search and seizure law brought a personal clash between two representatives during a debate on the measure Friday. Rep. B. J. Forbes of Parker county, a preacher charged across the House floor toward Rep. H. N. Graves of Georgetown, who had declared the bill was "an attempt to repeal the Constitution." The enraged Representative from Parker County had to be seated several times by the House Sergeant-At-Arms. The House was in an uproar of laughter at the incident.

A rural aid bill appropriating $5000 for each year of the next biennium has been reported on favorably by the Senate Finance Committee. Senator Tom Pollard of Tyler is author of the bill. An appropriation of $1,600,000 for each year of the present biennium was made by the 40th Legislature for rural aid.

The Senate and House of Representatives continue to be in a deadlock over the question of when the appropriation bills shall be passed. The House has gone on record as favoring a special session for the passage of money bills, while the Senate insists on putting the appropriations through during the regular session.

Legislative committees this week will take up the work of investigating the text-book situation and the State Land Office and its administration by Land Commissioner J. T. Robinson, who has been at loggerheads with Governor Moody. Attorney General Pollard and University Regents over the sale of oil and gas leases on the University lands. The connection of Moody, Pollard and the Regents to the controversy over the leases will also be investigated.

Recent activities of "political preachers" have "reflected no credit to the State or church," declared Representative J. Lewis Thompson of Houston, who would seek to bar political activity of the clergy by legislation. He has introduced in the House a joint resolution proposing a Constitutional amendment, which would bar any pastor or priest from being eligible to serve as governor or as a member of either branch of the Texas legislature. The proposed amendment would be submitted to the people for a vote in a special election to be called by the governor. The measure provides that a sum of $5000 should be set aside for expense of issuing the proclamation of the special election. The resolution has not received consideration yet.

Advocates for a large state bond issue for the financing of a highway program have been "jewed down" to a much smaller figure. The committee of seven, sub-committee of Governor Moody's committee of 31, called recently to make recommendations to the legislature about a highway program, agreed on a $175,000,000 bond issue. R. S. Sterling of Houston, chairman of the Highway Commission has advocated a bond issue of $300,000,000. The committee of 31 estimated that $225,000,000 would do the job. The committee of seven proposed that $100,000,000 be spent in new construction and $75,000 to reimburse counties and road districts for outlays on state highways.

An inspection trip of the state penitentiary farms near Houston was made over the week end by more than one-fifth of the members of the Legislature. Representatives A. H. King of Throckmorton and Senator McFarlane of Graham, chairman of the House and Senate committees on prisons, are leading the tour. The committees will make recommendations to the Legislature from the findings of the tour.

Manufacture of cement for highway construction in three plants to be established by the State is the recommendation made to the Senate by the State Board of Control. The plants would be located in various parts of the state in order to take advantage of freight rates and raw materials.

Many proposals have been made by legislators to build the cement plants and use convict labor to run them. The Highway Department used about 1,500,000 barrels of cement in 1928, it is estimated.

The establishment and maintenance of a State cancer and pellegra institution is favored by the Senate Committee on Public Health. The project is proposed in a bill drawn by Dr. J. W. Beck of DeKalb. The cost of the establishing the institution would be $200,000 and $225,000 for maintenance for the next two years, according to the measure.

Creation of a state bureau of criminal identification is provided for in a bill introduced by Senator John W. Hornsby of Austin. Fingerprint experts would be employed. Records of criminals would be kept for the use of the law enforcing agencies of the state. The bureau would be under supervision of the adjutant-general. The various peace officers' associations have strongly recommended the establishment of the bureau.

The Presbyterian Sabbath school took affectionate leave of him Sunday the 20th, each of the teachers and pupils telling him goodbye during the singing of a song. This church has kept Lena Kaiser at the Thorndale Orphanage for the past seven years. She has now passed the age and will leave there in June. During this time she has been instructed in all the studies commonly taught in the average female school, and is amply prepared to take a good position in the school room or some other good place.

Former Poor Boy Is Now Executive

A few years ago a poor boy, believing that business held a real future for him, went to a banker friend with a request for a loan to put him thru Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas. The banker, believing both in the lad and in the efficiency of T. C. C. training, advanced him $210.

Today that former poor boy, as a result of that loan and the course it enabled him to take, is one of the most respected citizens of Austin, Texas, chief executive of a thriving life insurance company, which nets him an income of over $5000 a year. That young lad was no other than Mr. F. W. Woolsey.

During his course at T. C. C., young Woolsey became interested in banking and it wasn't long after he was graduated until he was occupying a book-keeping position in a Bay City, Texas, bank. After rising to the position of Assistant Cashier, he accepted a position with the State Banking Department. While in that position he became interested in the insurance business and bought an interest in the Austin Mutual Life Insurance Company. Later, giving up all other interests, he devoted his entire time to this business and has built it up from a small business to a prosperous one with a splendid future.

"T. C. C. training gave me a start

and has helped me at every step of the way," he says.

Mr. Woolsey's story shows you that if you WANT to make your mark in the world, you CAN. A bank-roll in the pocket or hand-bag exposes you to theft or loss without redress, and gives the impression of incompetency, of lack of knowledge of the value of money. A bank-book has no cash value for the thief or the finder in case of loss. It expresses the character, self-reliance, and financial stability that money in the bank develops, and gives access to the counsel and help of a banking institution. Mrs. Levy Gives Bridge Party for Miss Burnett

Among the many delightful courtesies being extended this week to Miss Mary Burnett, bride-elect of Mr. Conn Moody, was a bridge party given by Mrs. W. B. Levy at her apartment Tuesday afternoon. Pastel shades were used in the appointments, decorations being of spring flowers and table covers in pink.

High score award fell to Mrs. C. W. Bradbury, an embroidered vanity set, and low to Miss Jolly Blanche Pitts, a dainty handkerchief, both of which were given the honoree. Her remembrance as honor guest was a luncheon set.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Clifton Jenness, served a collation consisting of cream chicken in patties, congealed fruit salad, olives, crackers and hot tea.

Misses Puckett, Gladys Blaylock and Mr. Moulton Cobb visited in Austin Saturday.

"BUDED ON EARTH, TO BLOOM IN HEAVEN"

On Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p. m., the death angel visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Price and took from them their darling baby. Little Jimmie was two years, and four months old. He had been a sufferer most all of his life, while yet his death came as a great shock to the family and community as he was laughing and playing with his father when he was called back home to Jesus. As He teaches us, "Suffer little children to come unto me for such is the kingdom of Heaven," he was the sunshine of their home. The entire community as well as the family have been drawn nearer Heaven by his going.

He was laid to rest in the North Elm Cemetery, January 21 at 2:30 p. m., Rev. P. T. Ramsey, officiating with Coleman-Eplen in charge.

Pall bearers were Alphin Buffington, D. M. Scarbrough, and others. Little Jimmie is survived by his parents and six brothers and two sisters.

Thou art gone, our precious darling never more shall see your face till we meet you in Heaven in that happy dwelling place.

Written by one who loved him—
Mattie Baggerly.

The pastor will preach at both hours next Sunday.

At the evening hour, 7:00, the subject is "Does Jesus Care?" There will be a surprise number supplied by a representative of the Leagues. You will enjoy it. Help us in our evening service. Hear our special music.

P. T. A.

The Cameron P. T. A. met Thursday January 24 at 3:30 in the library of the Yoe High school with Mrs. A. C. Freeman, the president, presiding.

Mrs. W. G. Gillis was the speaker of the afternoon, a very interesting and logical address on "Home Responsibility" was delivered.

A round table discussion followed the program. A large number of members were present.

T. N. T. DANCE

The T. N. T. Club sponsored a dance at the Cameron Country Club clubhouse last Friday evening, with Jamie Clark and his six-piece orchestra from Thorndale furnishing the music.

Decorations, which were in the club colors of black and white, consisted of black and white crepe paper streamers, serpentine and confetti. The lights were shaded in blue. Above the mantle was a black placard bearing the club monogram in white.

Chaperones for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. James Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. B. Slocomb and Mrs. Gus Evans.

School Day Party Is Pretty Compliment to Miss Mary Burnett

A school day party was the very clever and unique manner in which Mrs. Pope Sapp chose to honor Miss Mary Burnett, whose marriage to Mr. Conn Moody is to be an event of today. Members of the honoree's club and a few additional friends were invited to enjoy the hospitality Tuesday evening at Mrs. Sapp's home.

The main reception room was transformed into a typical schoolroom with its desks for teacher and children and its dunces stool and cap, the last of which was occupied most of the time by the bride-elect. A party atmosphere was also apparent in the floor baskets and wall brackets filled with chrysanthemums and the pots of hyacinths, which were in the chosen colors of orchid and green.

Mrs. W. R. Hoover was the austere teacher for the occasion. Books bound in green and tied with orchid cord to which was attached a pencil were passed to the guests. There were lessons in the alphabet, in geography, in arithmetic, literature and music. Miss Mary Lake Henderson made the best grade, and she was awarded a pair of chiffon hose which she in turn presented to Miss Burnett. Mrs. W. B. Levy, who made the lowest grade, was consoled with a package of chewing gum which she divided among all the guests.

Everyone was asked to write a poem about the honoree and the judges decided that Mrs. Kathryn E. Robbins had succeeded best. She received a costume pin, and she also gave this to Miss Burnett.

Refreshments were served in typical school baskets which were covered in orchid and green.

The lunch consisted of sandwiches, olives, pickles, candy, cakes and punch. Mrs. Sapp was assisted by Mrs. Raymond Sharpe, Frances Sharpe and Imogene Sapp.

A pleasant surprise for the honoree came after the service in the shape of a miscellaneous shower. A huge book which had been fashioned from a box and which was labeled "The Book of Knowledge" was presented to Miss Burnett by the teacher, Mrs. Hoover. It was filled with all kinds of useful gifts.

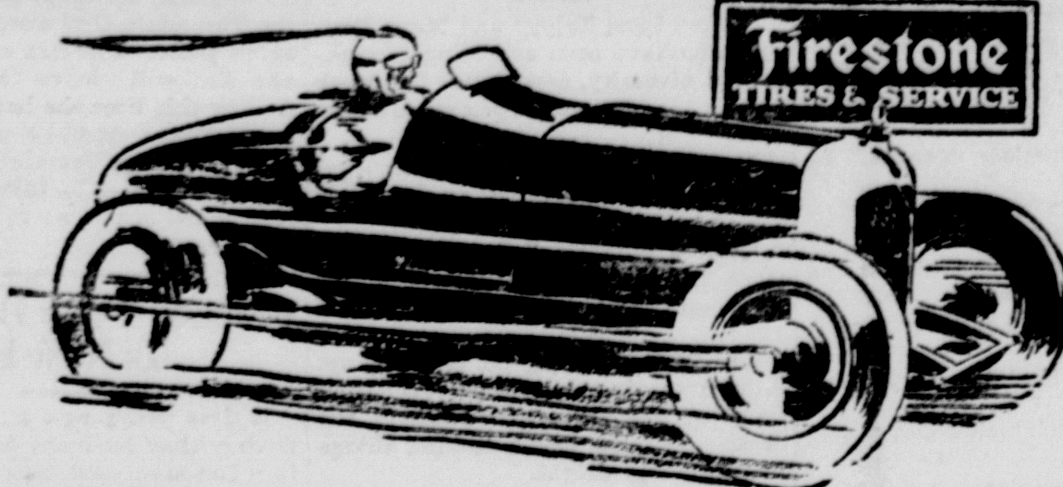

The following new members were initiated into the T. N. T. Club at the regular meeting Monday evening: George Adams, Sam Cheeves, Leland Green, R. B. Rylander, Paul Werner, Joe Rowland, Elmo Baggett, Guy Slocomb, Sam McDermott, Robert Smith, Preston Graves, Clarence Posey, Chas. Schaege and Ralph Keith.

Mighty Monarch of the Air.

NOTE THESE IMPROVEMENTS

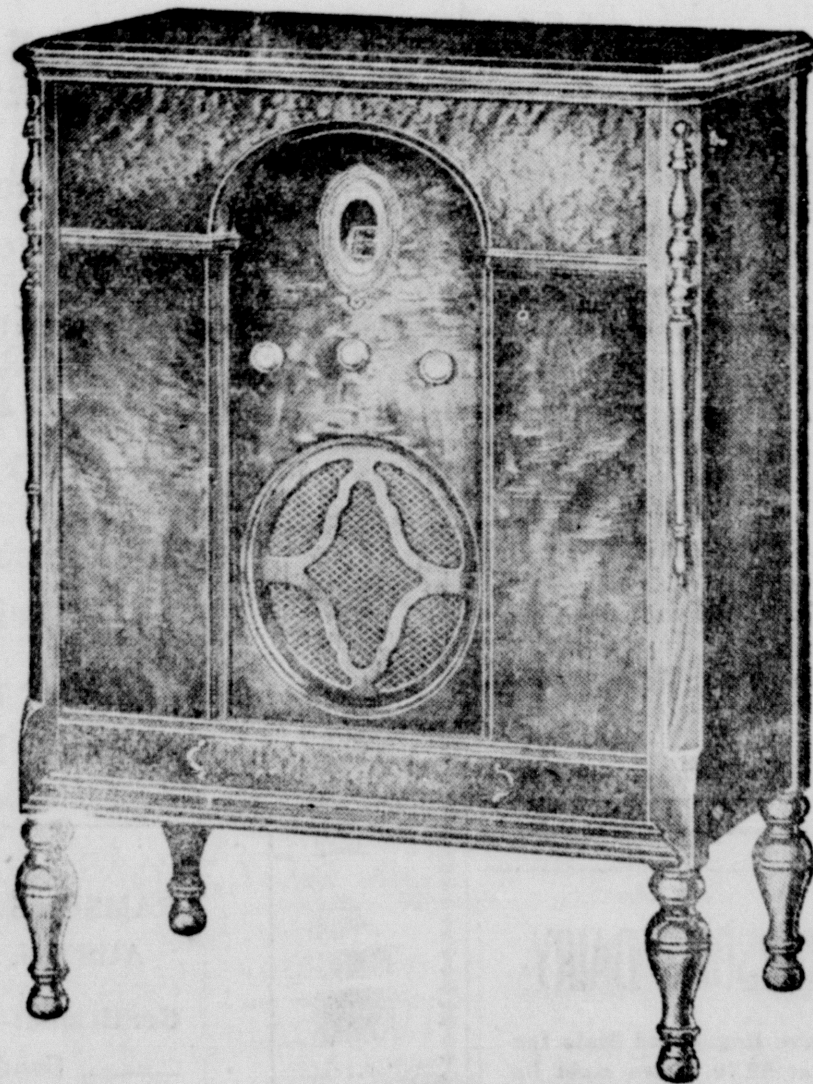

The mechanical improvements on both models, the 71 and the 72, are the same. A great increase of selectivity has been provided. Improvements on the speaker permit it to handle a much larger undistorted volume, with a greatly increased range of tone. The new models cover a 75 per cent greater range of sound frequencies than those of last year.

The exterior appearance of both sets is radically different from that of the old models, embodying the most graceful lines in radio furniture. The over-all appearance of the cabinet of the 72 is one of greater compactness, the receiver being about four inches lower than last year's model, about the same in width but not as deep. The cabinet of walnut and burl walnut, has a very high-polish finish. The doors are of diamond-matched panel-type walnut, inlaid with imported marquetry.

The cabinet of the new 71 is of the low-body type. It is without doors and has a center panel of burl walnut on which are arranged the control and speaker.

The interior arrangement is also entirely different from that of previous models. The speaker has been lowered from its previous position above the set to one below the set, thus making its outlines harmonious with the general lines of the new cabinets and insuring quieter operation. The tuning controls, dial, and speaker are mounted on a centered diamond-grained panel bordered on either side by burl walnut panels.
